Vermont Gold Season Get ready for the total solar eclipse on April 8

Maple is more than just for pancakes – maple syrup often conjures up images of pancakes being doused in the natural sweetener, and for good reason. They pair extremely well together. However, many don't realize pure Vermont maple syrup can enhance cocktails, desserts and endless dishes. Get ideas at https://vermontmaple.org/recipes/.

MMUUSD plans for eclipse day, April 8

From John Alberghini, MMUUSD Superintendent

On Monday, April 8, 2024, our region will experience a total solar eclipse. This is a rare experience that has garnered a great deal of interest.

In addition to interest, there are safety and traffic concerns as the eclipse will begin at dismissal time. As a proactive measure, the Mount Mansfield Unified Union School District (MMUUSD) plans to have our early release on Monday, April 8 instead of Wednesday, April 10 (we will have a full school day on April 10). We have changed this on our district-wide school calendar. We will also include reminders in school newsletters and in the March and April District Happenings newsletter.

Our plan aligns with school districts throughout the Champlain Valley. The path of the eclipse moves directly across Burlington and Saint Albans.

Although it is hard to imagine, it is anticipated that more than 250,000 people will travel to our area to view the eclipse. This does not account for those of us already living here. Eclipse goers are anticipated to begin to line up along major traffic corridors and side roads starting mid-day. The eclipse is scheduled to begin at 2:14 PM and end at 4:37 PM.

MMUUSD will be offering all students and staff members solar eclipse glasses.

On Monday, April 8, 2024, parts of northern Vermont will experience a total solar eclipse for the first time in 92 years. In Burlington, partial eclipse will begin at 2:14 PM and the total solar eclipse will last from 3:26-3:29 PM. The partial eclipse will end at 4:37 PM.

Viewing the eclipse without eclipse glasses can cause permanent eye damage. Obscura BTV glasses will be available for $3 at events leading up to and on the day of the eclipse.

Burlington expects a significant influx of visitors during the weekend leading up to and on the day of the eclipse. To accommodate, the City is hosting Obscura BTV (https://loveburlington.org/obscura-burlington/), a celebration that features programming, information, merchandise, and more. Burlington City Arts, Burlington Business and Workforce Development, and Burlington Parks, Recreation, and Waterfront Department are leading these efforts, with essential assistance from all City departments.

While resident information and frequently asked questions are currently addressed on the Obscura BTV website, the City is also holding a public info session about the eclipse on Thursday, March 21 in Contois Auditorium, in City Hall, at 6:00 PM.

During a total solar eclipse, locations in the path of totality will observe the moon completely covering the sun. This results in total darkness for the duration of totality. This is far rarer than a partial eclipse, encouraging "eclipse chasers" to travel to experience the cosmic occurrence.

The City has designated official viewing sites at Waterfront Park, Battery Park, Perkins Pier, City Hall Park, Roosevelt Park, and Oakledge Park. To accommodate visitors, VT Rt. 127 (The Beltline) will be closed on Monday, April 8 from 10:00 AM – 8:00 PM and will be used as a parking lot, starting at 12:00 PM, with shuttle buses running from 12:00 PM – 7:30 PM. The shuttle will drop off passengers at Lake Street on the Waterfront. Parking on VT Rt. 127 will cost $30 for cars of seven passengers or fewer, and includes the shuttle bus in both directions. Vehicles with eight or more passengers will be charged $50.

Obscura BTV-branded merchandise, including T-shirts, sweatshirts, posters, postcards, magnets, and more are available; T-shirt, sweatshirts, and posters are available for pre-order on https://loveburlington.org/obscura-burlington/.

To provide ample room for people to congregate, walk, and park, the City is also strategically closing and modifying the following streets to vehicular traffic on Monday, April 8:

• College Street, from N. Winooski Avenue to the Waterfront, from 11:00 AM – 6:00 PM. This creates a safe pedestrian corridor between Church Street and the Waterfront. Please access the Downtown Garage via Cherry Street.

• Lake Street will be closed to vehicles from 11:00 AM – 6:00 PM. This creates a car-free zone to accommodate the large number of people in the Waterfront District. If you have a specific need to travel in this area (residents, businesses), need to park in the Main Street Landing lot, or need accessible parking in the Pease Lot, please enter the controlled gate at Battery and Main Streets. Passes will be distributed to affected residents and businesses ahead of the event

• The following will be closed from 11:00 AM – 6:00 PM: Battery Street from Main Street to Park Street; Park Street from Battery Street to Sherman Street; Sherman Street from North Champlain Street to North Avenue; and North Avenue from Sherman Street to North Street. This allows for a heavy pedestrian load in and around Battery Park and provides a clear route for shuttle busses and emergency vehicles.

- Park Street, from Manhattan Drive to Sherman Street, will be closed to regular traffic to accommodate our shuttle bus route, from $11:00~\mathrm{AM}-6:00~\mathrm{PM}$.
- Monroe Street, Sherman Street, and Poplar Street, between North Champlain and Park Streets, will be closed 11:00 AM 6:00 PM, due to Park Street being closed.
- VT Rt. 127 (The Beltline) will be closed in both directions, from Manhattan Drive to Plattsburgh Avenue, from 10:00 AM 8:00 PM. The City is making this a controlled parking zone to alleviate parking issues in the Downtown. Shuttle busses will move attendees from VT Rt. 127 to Main Street from 12:00 7:30 PM
- \bullet St. Paul Street, from Main Street to College Street, will be closed from 10:00~AM-8:00~PM to accommodate the Obscura After Party in City Hall Park.
- Other intersections will be controlled by uniformed traffic officers throughout the City. Drivers are encouraged to allow for extra travel time and remain patient.

The City has been working for months with the Burlington Police and Fire Departments, as well as with City colleagues in the Department of Public Works, county and state agencies, and the University of Vermont. On April 8 and during the weekend prior, there will be additional officers and staff on-duty across the region. The City is also hiring private traffic control and security staff. There will be hundreds of additional restrooms as well as trash, recycling, and compost receptacles.

The University of Vermont and Champlain College are not holding classes on April 8, and Burlington Public Schools are releasing students early, at 11:30 AM.

Burlington residents and local visitors are encouraged to sign up for VT Alert (https://vem.vermont.gov/vtalert) to receive important updates and information regarding the event.

The City is looking for volunteers from April 1-10 to assist with jobs that include running an information booth or merchandise shop, working as an ambassador on Church Street, helping with proper waste disposal at viewing sites, and accepting payment in remote parking sites.

More information is available at https://loveburlington.org/obscura-burlington/. Other questions and concerns can be sent to eclipse@burlingtonvt.org.

NEWS BRIEFS

Burn permits in Westford

By Callie Hamdy, Westford Town Clerk

With the snow melting and the weather warming up, please make sure to get a burn permit. Even if there is still snow on the ground in some areas, it helps the fire warden know whether a permit has been obtained and if he needs to respond to any calls that may come in.

Notes from the Town of Jericho

Neighbors: This month we feature Planning Commission Chair, Susan Bresee. Click here to read more: jerichovt.org/Celebrating-Each-Other.

Planning Commission: The Planning Commission is starting work to update zoning regulations for Jericho's Village Centers. The Town received a grant to work with a consultant. The PC will use the Zoning For Better Neighborhoods Guide from VT Agency of Commerce and Community Development to draft zoning amendments. The PC will hold several public meetings over the next few months to work on these updates. The updates will be designed to implement Town Plan goals to stimulate village development, especially for a variety of housing types mixed with small businesses which serve residents, in walkable neighborhoods. The PC will work with the Selectboard to put new zoning in place in 2024.

Trails Committee: In addition to their work supporting the great trail systems in Jericho the Trails Committee is expanding their advisory role to the Town to include guidance on bicycle and pedestrian safety and infrastructure. To reflect their revised purview they have adopted a new name — Jericho Bicycle and Pedestrian Connectivity Committee — and have voted to adopt a new mission statement. Underhill Recreation Committee open seat

By Anton Kelsey, Underhill Recreation Committee Chair

The Underhill Recreation Committee is seeking a motivated and engaged Underhill resident to fill an open seat on the Recreation Committee.

If you love the idea of supporting an active and vibrant community, building community, and helping to engage residents to take advantage of our incredible local outdoor resources, please consider joining the Recreation Committee.

The seven-member all volunteer Recreation Committee is responsible for multiple aspects of recreation in the Town of Underhill. The committee manages the Town Pond and Recreation Area on Stevensville Road, maintains the ice rink in Moore Park, puts on multiple annual events including summer food truck/music nights in Moore Park and pumpkin carving in Moore Park, and supports recreation opportunities in Tomasi Meadow like cross country skiing, among other things. Recreation Committee members attend monthly meetings at the Town Hall and help out at multiple events throughout the year, listed above. In many respects, the time spent at events and doing things like keeping the ice clear at the skating rink and the water flowing into and out of the Town Pond are the most important roles of the members.

If you are an Underhill resident and are interested in joining the committee, or you would like to discuss the roles and responsibilities further, please contact Committee Chair Anton Kelsey at anton@lavjaveler.com.

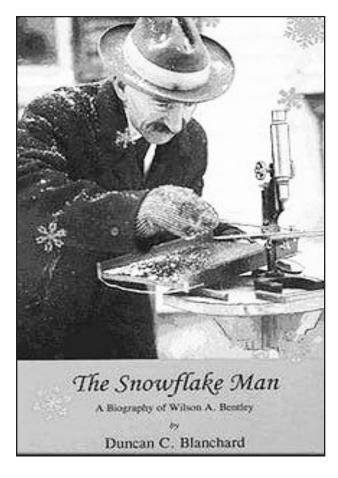

Westford wastewater committee needs your ideas

By Holly Delisle, Westford Town Administrator

The newly formed wastewater committee has begun work to identify alternatives to the Maple Shade community wastewater system, and now we need help from you! If you've got ideas — big or small, fully fleshed out or even a little crazy — that may help provide wastewater/septic capacity for our Village Center, we want to hear from you!

Ideas can include solutions for the Town Office and Library alone, or any combination of those buildings plus the Brick

25th anniversary of "Snowflake" Wilson Bentley biography publication

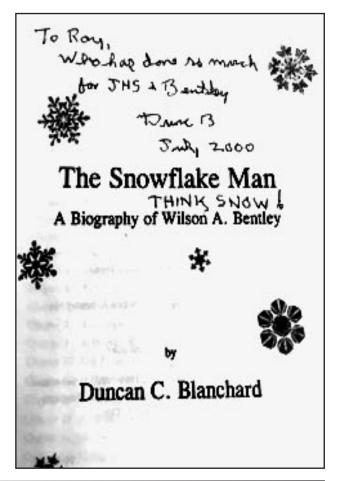

By Louise Miglionico

It is now 25 years since The Snowflake Man: A Biography of Wilson A Bentley by Duncan C. Blanchard was published. Mr. Blanchard was an atmospheric scientist and researcher at the State University of Albany. He became fascinated with the work of Wilson Bentley and thoroughly researched his life and work. He considered Bentley both a scientist and artist. Blanchard interviewed many family members, neighbors, and friends of Bentley. Blanchard also visited many universities and other institutes which housed Bentley works.

In the book Blanchard described the lengthy and painstaking process Bentley went through to finally photograph over 5000 of his beloved snow crystals. Blanchard masterfully described the environment in which Bentley lived and the relationship between that environment and the Snowflake Man's creations. The book also provides perspective of Bentley's relationship with his family as well as his presence in the Jericho community.

In his acknowledgements Blanchard described his work with the Jericho Historical Society: "I have spent many hours visiting, talking, and writing to several members of the Society. Jean Smith, the former archivist, sent me copies of Bentley articles that otherwise would have been hard to get. I am equally grateful to Ray Miglionico, the present archivist, who sent me many photographs of Bentley, his relatives, and friends. But most of all, I am indebted to the indefatigable Blair Williams, who for more than 25 years has been building up the Bentley collection at the Jericho Historical Society and has not let the citizens of Jericho or the world forget Wilson Bentley. I have treasured the exchange of many letters with Blair."

COMING EVENTS

All about the eclipse — information, Tour the Solar System with VT glasses, viewing party!

By Bree Drapa Librarian, Westford Public Library

Are you ready for the upcoming Total Solar Eclipse on Monday, April 8, 2024? The Westford Public Library is here to help! We are so excited to be part of Solar Eclipse Activities for Libraries (SEAL). This means we have had training, equipment and solar glasses for FREE.

Eclipse timing for Westford: partial eclipse begins: 2:14 PM; totality begins: 3:26:20 PM; totality ends: 3:29:42 PM (that's an incredible 3 minutes 22 seconds of totality!); partial eclipse ends:

Learn all about the Eclipse at an Eclipse Talk on Saturday, April 6, 2:00 – 3:30 PM at the Library. Solar eclipse ambassador and avid space enthusiast Molly Drapa will explain all about eclipses. Her presentation will cover what they are, why they occur, and teach you all about this upcoming, once-in-a-lifetime event. Great for all levels of learners — older kids to experts. The presentation will last about an hour, with plenty of time for questions afterwards.

Experience the eclipse together at an Eclipse Viewing Party on the Common on Monday, April 8, 2:00 – 4:30 PM. There will be Eclipse Crafts in the Gazebo with Westford PTO, with cool sun viewing equipment Sunocculars and a SunSpotter. It is cool to view something like this as a community!

How and When do I get eclipse glasses? Come the Library between Tuesday, March 26-Monday, April 8 — while supplies last — we have 500 pairs! Anyone who attended our space programming will have a reserved pair. All students at Westford School and the Barn School will receive their own pair. Pick up glasses at the library with a valid Westford Public Library card (max two per household). NASA recommends one pair of glasses per three people — you do not need glasses at all during totality! Need a library card? Contact the Library!

St. Patrick's Shenanigans fundraiser for Jenna's Promise

Come to the Underhill Town Hall on Pleasant Valley Road in Underhill Center on Saturday, March 16, 5:00 – 9:00 PM, for an evening of St. Patrick's Day Shenanigans! The event will benefit Jenna's Promise, an organization based in Johnson, VT dedicated to the pursuit of substance use prevention.

Put on your dancing shoes for the Blue Rock Boys. Enjoy bangers, French fries, and smoked corned beef — all provided by Mike Fullem of Underhill, and bring a dessert to share!

Jeff Church accepting items for Memorial Day sale

The Jeff Church (Second Congregational Church, Jeffersonville) will be having their annual Memorial Day Sale on Saturday, May 25. As you are doing your spring cleaning should you find you have salable items you would like to donate, please call Becky, 802-644-8827, or Melody, 802-644-2409. We cannot take large furniture, helmets, computer equipment, etc.

We will also be opening up the church grounds and community room for flea marketers. $25 per space. Call one of the numbers above if you are interested.

We have room for your ad. Call Brenda Boutin at 802-453-6354 for more information or email mtngazette@gmavt.net

Symphonic Winds on March 13

In anticipation of the coming solar eclipse on Monday, April 8, the Vermont Symphonic Winds (VSW), conducted by music director Lisa Jablow, will present PRECLIPSE, a complete performance of The Planets by English composer Gustav Holst. The concert will take place on Wednesday, March 13, at 7:00 -8:30 PM at the Elley-Long Music Center, St. Michael's College, Ethan Allen Ave., Colchester. The VSW will be joined by Bella Voce, under the direction of Dawn Willis.

Each of the seven movements in the work paints a vivid musical portrait of a planet; in concert order: Mars, Venus, Mercury, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, and Neptune. Interestingly, Earth is not represented because Holst created the work from an astrological perspective. Since the Earth has no astrological significance, he did not include it.

Please join us for this unique musical and astronomical experience. Questions? Message us via Facebook or Instagram (search for "vermontsymphonicwinds" for both) or email vermontsymphonicwinds@gmail.com.

Admission at the door: $15 for adults, $10 for seniors and children. Cash and Venmo only, please.

Conversational Soup Supper & Soulful Silence, 5:30 7:00 PM, Richmond Congregational Church. 20 Church St., Richmond. Begin (5:30 - 6:15 PM) with a simple soup supper and convivial communal conversation in the Fellowship Hall downstairs. Continue (6:30 – 7:00 PM) by finding a comfortable place to be in quiet and still your spirit in the Sanctuary and Parlor upstairs. You can sit in silence, light a candle, read a book, pray, meditate, knit, color, etc. Silence will begin and end with ringing the church bell. This free event is open to the whole community. You can join for just dinner, or silence, or both. Please contact Rev. Katelyn Macrae, katelyn@rccucc.org or 802-434-2053, if you have questions or would like to help provide soup and bread for one of the evening meals.

Saturday, March 9

Using Microsoft OneNote, 10:30 AM – 12:00 PM, on Zoom. This class shows how genealogists can organize their research materials using a free tool from Microsoft called OneNote. The power of OneNote is in its ability to combine all kinds of media. Start your move away from paper and manila folders, and instead organize photos and articles, PDF files, Word docs, and use links to outside sources. In this class Dwight Fowler will review the basics of OneNote to show its capabilities, along with examples of it in use for research. Attendees should be familiar with Microsoft Word, Powerpoint, or Excel. An understanding of MS OneDrive, or cloud-based tools like Dropbox, or Google Drive, is also recommended, but not required. This Zoom webinar may be followed by a virtual training offering. Cost is $10. Please visit www.vtgenlib.org for additional details and for registration.

COMMUNITY COLUMNS

Updates from Mount Mansfield Community Television

By Angelike Contis, MMCTV

Hats: Spring is around the corner, but for the time being we are stuck with this colder weather! But no matter the season, MMCTV has a hat to have you covered! We have two styles to choose from, each with a locally-embroidered design on the front. We have a thick knit beanie in charcoal grey, and a light grey baseball cap. Hats are $25 each and proceeds help us keep up our local programming. We are happy to mail hats for a small fee, drop them off, or arrange pickup! If interested in snagging one of these snazzy hats, email us at mmctv15@gmail.com.

Hockey: Winter sports have been going strong, and our coverage of MMU hockey has never been more robust. Thanks to the work of filmmaker Tegan Greenberg, we livestreamed/filmed 14 home games this season! You can watch livestreams at https://www.youtube.com/@2mmctv/streams, and recordings at https://archive.org/details/@mount_mansfield_community_television.

VAN updates: In a time when the cable revenue which we rely on is declining rapidly around the country, Vermont Access Network (made up of 24 community centers, including MMCTV) is working hard to carve out a new funding source for community media in the state! After a five-year effort, legislation supporting a Community Benefit Fund for future PEG support has been introduced in the Vermont House (H.657) and Senate (S.181). While we do this long-term effort, your donations today are extremely valuable! If you would like to make a tax-deductible donation, consider making it a recurring gift! It's easy to donate online at https://mtmansfieldctv.org/donations/.

Viewer Poll results: Thank you to those of you who participated in our viewer poll! And congratulations to our raffle winners Peter Booth and Jeff Forward, who each won an MMCTV hat, and David Sunshine, who won a $20 Sweet Simone's Gift Card. We greatly appreciated everyone who took the time to give us feedback. Here's some of what we heard:

- You are happy overall with our meeting coverage, but suggest ways we can improve, such as reminding meeting leaders to stop sharing screens too long.
- You'd like more community and non-government content!Several of you would like more sports coverage; we will
- keep trying to schedule youth and pro videographers at MMU!

 Many viewers are interested in more local arts (dance recitals, music, etc.).

Thank you for everyone's comments, and just a reminder that we take feedback all year round! Shoot us an email at mmctv15@gmail.com.

Vermont Wild Bees Matrix: a 55,000-piece puzzle

By Bernie Paquette

I have discovered a new world that seems unmoving without a close, attentive look. Yet I have observed over one thousand taxa (many at species level) of invertebrates in our 1.3-acre yard, including 98 bee species, over three years.

Who are Vermont's 350 wild bee species?

I am searching for information about the lives of each of the 350(+) wild bee species that are known to be in Vermont: life cycle, behaviors, how they sense their world, how they gather food, their mating habits, how they raise families, how long they live, and about 75 other categories about their existence among

My goal is to mobilize and aggregate Vermont wild bee data into an easy-access, shareable, and updatable spreadsheet that allows users to sort, filter, and categorize the subset of data they wish to review

This data set is meant to augment the data sets of other organizations such as the Vermont Center for Ecostudies

St. Patrick's Day Shenanigans Benefit, 5:00 – 9:00 PM, Underhill Town Hall, Pleasant Valley Rd., Underhill Center. The event will benefit Jenna's Promise, an organization based in Johnson, VT dedicated to the pursuit of substance use prevention. Put on your dancing shoes for the Blue Rock Boys; enjoy bangers, French fries, and smoked corned beef — all provided by Mike Fullem of Underhill — and bring a dessert to share!

Sunday, March 17

Winter Soup Bowl, 5:00-7:00 PM, Underhill Town Hall, Underhill Center. A variety of soup selections will be provided, including a vegan option. Bring your own utensils, bowls, beverages, and cheese or bread or dessert to share. Come share in the fun of this free and family friendly event!

Wednesday, March 20

Conversational Soup Supper & Soulful Silence, 5:30 – 7:00 PM, Richmond Congregational Church. 20 Church St., Richmond. Begin (5:30 – 6:15 PM) with a simple soup supper and convivial communal conversation in the Fellowship Hall downstairs. Continue (6:30 – 7:00 PM) by finding a comfortable place to be in quiet and still your spirit in the Sanctuary and Parlor upstairs. You can sit in silence, light a candle, read a book, pray, meditate, knit, color, etc. Silence will begin and end with ringing the church bell. This free event is open to the whole community. You can join for just dinner, or silence, or both. Please contact Rev. Katelyn Macrae, katelyn@rccucc.org or 802-434-2053, if you have questions or would like to help provide soup and bread for one of the evening meals.

(Vermont Atlas of Life Species data set).

Come collaborate with me on this project by helping to piece together or fill in some of the 55,000 puzzle pieces about Vermont bees.

Every time I locate data and fill a cell with it I imagine I have earned an M&M! Fill in one cell, or ten, or however many you like, and let me know. It is a big puzzle and will take lots of hands to piece it together. Share some data, resources, or ideas (p.s. you have to provide your own M&Ms).

Process: The challenge is to locate or analyze existing knowledge about each of the species of Vermont bees. Organization tasks crowd with finding and collecting information into a common location and format.

I will detail the specific column headers of information being sought about all the VT bee species upon request. An overview is listed on my blog post at https://vtbugeyed.blogspot.com/2024/02/vermont-wild-bees-matrix-55000-piece.html. I am asking the online community to send me their puzzle pieces or data and I will enter them onto the master sheet as the online community reports the information.

Sources of the data are a requirement along with the submitted

I am open to suggestions for an easy-to-use submission system. In time I will create a specified format to transmit data to be added to the file, possibly a Google Sheets file or See Click Fix (https://crm.seeclickfix.com/#/login) type of tool. For now, emails to me will be the method of data transmission.

For more information, see my blog post at https://vtbugeyed.blogspot.com/2024/02/vermont-wild-bees-matrix-55000-piece.html

I invite others to look closely through my iNatualist postings, from the ninety-eight bee species to the dragonflies, hoverflies, beetles, and more. I promote 'inverting' via my VT Bug Eyed blog, Zoom presentations, single-panel nature-inspired comics (posted every Saturday), Six-Word Insect Memoirs, First in VT (insect) announcements, Jericho Underhill Life Search Game (JULS), stories (Meet Clara Bee Huginton — you will like her), and outdoor programs like my Bug Safari offering (see https://vbugeyed.blogspot.com/2023/08/bug-safari-on-nashville-road.html).

Mostly, I want to share this fascinating world of everyone's backyard for all to explore — to observe and get to know their closest neighbors.

Managing forests for resilience

By Ethan Tapper Chittenden County Forester

Landowners often ask me: "is my forest healthy?" While this may seem like a simple question, the more time I spend working with forests, the more difficult it is to answer. While most people picture a "healthy" forest as one with lots of healthy trees, when we take a more holistic and expansive view of forest ecology, it's actually much more complicated than that. More and more, I define forest health in terms of resilience.

The resilience of a forest is essentially its ability to persevere and to "bounce back" from adversity — to respond to threats, stressors, and disturbances while maintaining its productive

New nurse grads: get to know Copley Hospital at Lunch & Learn

From Copley Hospital

What's it like to work at Copley Hospital? What supports are available to me as a new nurse? What's the food like in the

If you are graduating from nursing school this spring and want to learn about Copley's six-month nurse residency program and get all your questions answered about working at Copley join us for our New Nurse Graduate Lunch & Learn on Thursday, March 14, 1:00 - 2:30 PM at Copley Hospital, Washington Highway, Morrisville.

Come, meet, and mingle with nursing leadership from Copley's Med-Surg unit, Emergency Department, Birthing Center, and Surgical Center. Human Resources will be available to answer your questions about pay and benefits. And lunch will be provided!

If you like us, you can apply for Copley's six-month nurse residency program, which gives you the one-on-one support, mentorship, and education to be independent in your role at the completion of the residency.

This is your chance to get to know Copley, tour our facility, and ask questions about working here.

Please RSVP by calling 802-521-5214. We look forward to seeing you on March 14.

Suicide prevention with Howard Center's free firearm cable locks

Building on the success of last year's launch, Howard Center is continuing its initiative to distribute free firearm cable locks as part of its comprehensive suicide prevention strategy in Chittenden County. Recognizing the critical link between suicide and firearm access, the program aims to encourage safer firearm storage practices. With firearms involved in over half of the suicides in Vermont, preventive measures are key to firearm safety.

The majority of suicides occur within minutes or hours following the onset of suicidal thoughts. By increasing the number of barriers, such as secure firearm storage, individuals may have more time to seek help.

Safe firearm storage is an essential component in gun safety and suicide prevention," said Mark Margolis, Howard Center's suicide prevention coordinator. "We initiated this program last year and are continuing to encourage community members to use these free firearm cable locks. They are a critical barrier that can

The firearm cable locks work by being inserted into the receiver of a gun, which prevents the mechanical action necessary to discharge a projectile. This method ensures the firearm cannot go into battery, which means the firearm cannot be loaded or fired, an essential barrier in preventing unauthorized use and accidents. The device can be unlocked and removed at any time using the included key. Instructions are included with the firearm cable

Free firearm cable locks are available at Howard Center's Burlington Mon 8:30 AM – 4:00 PM. Supplies can be limited, so it's always best to call in advance, 802-488-6912, or email developmentteam@ howardcenter.org to check availability. Recognizing early signs of cognitive decline

From the VT Department of Health

Forgetting or misplacing things occasionally is normal. But when memory loss or confusion disrupts your daily life at any age, it may be a sign of dementia. Other early signs include:

- struggling with familiar tasks;
- putting things in odd places;
- getting lost in familiar areas.

As many as 40% of dementia cases can be delayed or prevented, and it helps to know what to look out for. If you're concerned about memory loss or confusion, speak with your health care provider. Learn more: https://www.HealthVermont.

Copley's Cardiology team offers heart health information

In recognition of American Heart Month, members of Copley Hospital's cardiology team — Drs. Adam Kunin and Michael Hayes and Cardiac Nurse Practitioner Nadia Fletcher their tips for a healthy heart.

According to Dr. Kunin, it is generally much easier to prevent a heart attack than it is to treat a heart attack once it has occurred. "Comprehensive cardiac prevention involves evaluating a person's overall risk of having a cardiac event and looking at various ways to prevent such an event from happening." Kunin says that an important piece of prevention is recognizing that you may not know all the possible risks and trying to identify them through advanced testing.

Kunin adds that there is no single cardiovascular test to predict a person's likelihood of a heart attack. "A lot of it comes down to good, old-fashioned behavior — eating a healthy diet, regular exercise, and taking good care of yourself." Dr. Hayes seconds this perspective and says that not much has changed over time in terms of the steps necessary to maintain a healthy heart. "Eat whole natural foods, including fruits, vegetables, nuts, and lean protein. Participate in daily exercise.

Cardiac Nurse Practitioner Nadia Fletcher says that signs of a potential heart problem may include chest discomfort and shortness of breath. "You should see your doctor if you experience these symptoms as they can be caused by heart disease." Fletcher shares that if your provider refers you to Copley's Cardiology Clinic, you will be seen by a member of the team for an assessment and to determine next steps. According to Fletcher this may include a heart monitor, an echocardiogram, or a stress test.

Fortunately, Fletcher says, it is never too late to make changes that can help improve your heart health. To learn more about Copley's Cardiology Clinic and services, visit https://www. copleyvt.org/services/cardiology-heart-health/ or call 802-888-

Talking about the birds and the bees

Parents have recently been asking me for the bare facts about when and how to talk to their children about sex. Given their concerns, I thought I would take the covers off this topic and provide you with some information.

Different approaches for different stages

First, children do not learn about sex in a single "birds and the bees" conversation. Instead, these conversations occur over years — similar to their overall body and mental development.

Toddlers will always be interested in their bodies. Parents at this age should begin to identify the genitals using the proper terms in a matter-of-fact way without embarrassment.

If your preschool child is caught playing doctor or nurse, be reassured that this does not mean your child will be promiscuous or overly interested in sex. This is a great time to teach your child about good and bad touch and that their body is their own and they have the right to privacy.

A pregnancy or birth in the family is always a good opportunity to discuss how babies are conceived and born. If a preschooler or kindergartener wants to know where they came from, you can tell them the story of the egg that grew in the womb or uterus but be sure your child wants to hear this and not the story of how they came from Chicago to move to Vermont or upstate

Early school aged children will need to be informed about reproduction. A book may be useful if you are worried about what words you will want to use for this conversation. Your child's health care professional can help here with recommendations of what to say or read.

Menstruation should be introduced by age 8 to girls and boys. While schools will teach reproduction, parents need to teach and share their values about having sex and should do this before their children learn the mechanics and science of reproduction in school.

Don't just focus on the don'ts regarding sex and sexuality but also the dos. What can they do to address peer or partner pressure to be sexual when they feel they are not ready?

Acknowledging sexuality is not the same as giving your permission for them to have sex. Listen more than you talk and answer any questions or information heard or learned at school or via the media.

Hopefully, tips like these will be far more revealing when it comes to undressing your fears regarding how to become more comfortable talking to your child about sex.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A message of gratitude

To the Editor,

I would like to thank everyone who attended the Underhill Semi-Flannel on Saturday evening (February 10) and donated their time and money to make it not only a successful community event, but also a successful fundraiser for Chittenden Asylum Seekers Assistance Network (CASAN). The total amount of donations far exceeded any expectations, and the donations are still coming in through the website.

I'm willing to bet most of us have an immigration story in our past. My grandfather came from Ireland on a boat by himself at the age of 16 with a few dollars in his pocket. Sound familiar? His courage led to generations of college graduates, skilled workers, professionals, and entrepreneurs. Now volunteers for CASAN who benefitted from courageous ancestors are working hard to "pay it forward" and assist those going through the legal asylum process.

Thank you again to all those who made a financial donation, but also to all those who have donated items like clothing and furniture, transportation, food, etc. to our new neighbors who arrived with little but their courage and willingness to contribute to our community. If you attended the Semi-Flannel event and forgot to throw a few bucks in the basket or if you were unable to attend but would still like to make a donation, anything is (https://sites.google.com/view/casan-vermont/ appreciated donate).

Thanks to Mike Fullem and all the volunteers and high school students who made this a successful event. You make your community proud!

Save our Vermont wild bees support VT S.706

To the Editor,

Below is the letter I wrote to our legislators to support VT bill S.706. Please consider sending our legislators a letter of support

'Hello VT state Legislators, I am writing to urge you to support S.706, which will prohibit the sale, distribution, or use of any neonicotinoids-treated seed for corn, soy, and other cereal grains unless a pest threat warranting use is established.

One of the United Nations goals for sustainable development for biodiversity protection is titled 'Ecosystem and biodiversity' which states that up until the year 2030 losses of biodiversity and habitat losses must diminish and the prevention of species extinction must occur.

'Vermont's goals can be anchored in the UN goal by taking measures to prevent or stop actions that inhibit or are grievously detrimental to 'a rich plant and animal diversity' in Vermont. Bill

"The VT bill would help create a safer habitat for pollinators. Vermont should consider this bill as part-measure towards a goal that by the year 2030, the habitats for pollinators in Vermont should not have deteriorated; the abundance of Vermont's 350+ wild bee species should have increased without any further VT wild bee extinctions, and less than 10% of honeybees will die during the winter.

"Let us find a way to assist farmers and not destroy the pollinators we and the agricultural growers rely on by using science towards the goal of rich plant and animal diversity.

"Protect our pollinators to protect us all."

Please join the fight against flavored tobacco

To the Editor,

I have recently learned some disturbing facts about how flavored tobacco is marketed to kids and I want to urge you to join me in telling our State Representatives to pass bill S.18 to prohibit the sale of flavored tobacco products in Vermont. Flavored tobacco is getting kids addicted and we've got to take a stand.

• Tobacco "juice" used for vaping is sold in flavors like tuttifrutti, gummy bear, sour candy, bubblegum, etc. to appeal to children and young people.

• E-cigarettes, or vapes — the apparatus used to aerosolize the flavored tobacco liquid — have been designed to look exactly the same as common school supplies like highlighters, thumb drives, and smartwatches. This makes it easy for kids to bring them to school (or anywhere in public) and to hide them from adults.

· Vaping, unlike cigarettes, tastes good, smells good, and doesn't cause new users to cough when they first try it. Someone can pick up a vape and use it immediately.

• The average age when kids try vapes: 13. Eighth grade. 16% of high schoolers are regular users.

Facts from: https://www.flavorshookkids.org/vaping-dangers/. In testimony at the Vermont State House, a local pediatric pulmonologist said getting kids off vapes has been more difficult than getting adults off opioids. Nicotine addiction is especially dangerous for kids.

Please, make sure your kids and loved ones know how dangerous and toxic vaping is. And make sure your state representatives know that you support bill S.18 and want to see the sale of flavored tobacco banned in Vermont.

Learn more and contact your state reps here: https:// flavorshookkidsvt.org/.

Thank you for reading and for joining the fight against the sale of flavored tobacco!

LEGISLATIVE UPDATES

Update from the Vermont House

By Thomas Stevens, State Representative, Washington-Chittenden

February 10

The Legislature just wrapped up the first third (six weeks) of the session. Much like we can learn to tell time of year by the height of the sun in the sky (when it reappears after a month behind the clouds), the Legislature can mark time by the service of our Pages, eighth-grade students from around the state who serve us in the State House for six-week stints. This week we said goodbye to the first group of pages, and then focused our thoughts on the next six-week period, which will see us work faster on a number of key issues and processes in front of us.

Over the next six weeks, committees will finish work on bills that are generated on our side of the building. Policy committees such as General and Housing finish this portion of our work on Friday, March 15 (the Ides of March!), while bills with money in them have a deadline of Friday, March 22. The deadline is the same in the Senate. Each body will then work to pass the bills in the full House or Senate, and then we will work on each other's bills until the end of the session. This middle section will also include Town Meeting, and we will attend each of them in our district.

Reporting what passes out of committee or through the House is, by its nature, incomplete. While it represents our work, what we report won't become law unless the Senate agrees to take up the bill and agree with it, with or without revision, and if that happens, it has to signed by the Governor.

That said, here's what we passed the last two weeks, either in General and Housing or in the House: we've been focused on anti-discrimination work and passed H.363, which would ban discrimination based on hair styles. It is our variation on the CROWN act, which is language that has passed in 23 states already. We also passed H.751, which would extend equal pay protections to individuals in all protected classes.

We are gearing up to deal with a number of bills related to housing, in categories such as funding, building and landlord/tenant law.

Senate update: focused on kids, families

By Kesha Ram Hinsdale, State Senator Chittenden-Southeast

February 29

Town Meeting Day marks the halfway point of our legislative session. I know there is a lot on your mind as you prepare to vote on local candidates. First, I wanted to share an alert from our Secretary of State:

A group called VT Grassroots is conducting a concerning "Voter Integrity" project in our area. This is a private organization not operating in any official capacity. While the group's activity is lawful, their canvassing may cause distress and intimidate potential voters. Please know that no municipal or state programs would require you to answer questions about your registration status, residency, homeownership status, or home occupants at your door. Please visit http://sos.vermont.gov/elections/voters for more information about voting and elections.

Now, I want to address some of the issues I'm hearing the most about from neighbors.

Property taxes

We are facing large school budget increases through factors beyond our districts' control — things like inflation and loss of federal funds. But the Legislature also made the policy decisions to add universal school meals and increased pupil weighting for ELL and FRL students to the Education Fund. To me, this means we also have a duty to accompany those important policy decisions with new sources of revenue that alleviate pressure on homestead property taxpayers. We are looking at proposals like an excise tax on sugar-sweetened beverages and a higher tax on second homes that would help us fill the gap without an automatic rise in homestead property tax rates.

Housing

We have a severe housing shortage while we simultaneously try to relocate unhoused families and find workforce housing and homeownership opportunities for middle class Vermonters who are being priced out of the housing market. Furthermore, putting our rising municipal and educational costs on a declining housing stock will continue to escalate individual tax burdens. Our housing bill, the Bringing Everyone Home (BE Home Bill) alleviates state regulatory pressure on the housing market while making smart investments in first-generation homeowners and rehabilitating blighted properties. It is now being taken up by the other Senate committees of jurisdiction and we look forward to its ultimate advance.

Youth mental health

On a personal note, my husband and I are expecting again, soon to become the proud parents of two children under two years! Family well-being and youth mental health are on the minds of many parents, including ours. They are also cost drivers in our Education Fund, as our schools seek to help children in crisis. I am committed to passing bills that put our families and children first. Here are just a few...

• Baby Bonds: It has been a privilege to work with Treasurer Mike Pieciak on a financial tool that has real potential to close the wealth gap in this state and country. We have been working with national scholars on the social policy of "Baby Bonds," which would invest $10,000 on behalf of all children born into Medicaid-eligible families. The money is deposited into an interest-bearing account and our young people can access their investment when they are at least 18 years old to pay for housing, education, training, or a business to give them the best possible opportunity to build wealth early in life, when it counts the most.

• Ghost guns: The possession and distribution of untraceable firearms or "Ghost Guns" poses a serious threat to our communities. With gun violence and teen suicide on the rise, it is important we do all we can to ensure all firearms are subject to background checks, including ones that are kit-made or 3-D printed. S.209, which would require all firearms to have serial numbers, was just passed by the Senate on a 26-3 vote. I want my children to grow up being able to play and go to school safely, and common sense gun legislation is crucial to creating a safer Vermont for future generations.

• Kids Code: Social media is the largest driver of negative youth mental health impacts. Rates of hospitalization for depression and eating disorders have skyrocketed since 2010, capacity and natural processes over time. It's important to recognize that some amount of "adversity" is a normal and natural part of forest ecology — as long as there have been forests, there have been pests, parasites and pathogens, windstorms, ice storms, and forest fires. While these disturbances kill trees, they are as normal (and arguably as essential) a part of forest ecology as the trees themselves.

Key to their resilience is forests' ability to regenerate — to grow new generations of trees in place of the old. In Vermont, we are blessed with forests that readily regenerate from all manner of disturbances — any time light reaches the forest floor, the forest responds with an explosion of new trees, shrubs, and plants. Over time, disturbances of different types, intensities, and frequencies can manifest species diversity (different species of trees, which regenerate under different light levels, soil conditions, and more), as well as structural diversity (different generations of trees) both within an individual forest and across our landscape.

Species diversity and structural diversity are both products of, and contributors to, a forest's resilience. Different species and ages of trees help forests risk-spread — similar to how we might diversify a business or a stock portfolio, risk-spreading buffers forests from catastrophic and destabilizing events. For instance, if most of the trees in a forest are a single species, a pest or pathogen that attacks that species could stress or kill nearly all the trees in that forest. Similarly, if all the trees in the forest are the same age, a windstorm may topple virtually all of them at once. Having a diversity of tree species, sizes, and ages buffers a forest from these larger-scale, more harmful disturbances.

While resilience has always been a key component of healthy forests, today it is more vital than ever. Modern forests face an unprecedented array of threats and stressors that we refer to, collectively, as global change: the combination of climate change, non-native invasive plants, animals, pests and pathogens, deer overpopulation, forest fragmentation, deforestation, and more. To make matters worse, because of past land use (especially the agricultural clearing of the 1800s) our forests are generally young and simple, in most cases lacking the diversity so vital to their resilience.

It's important to recognize that even if we lived in a landscape of diverse, old-growth forests, and even if climate change was the only threat that they faced, climate change alone would test the limits of our forests' resilience. On a landscape of altered and degraded forests, and with all the threats posed by global change, it is unreasonable to expect forests to summon the resilience needed to survive this moment without our help.

How can we help forests build resilience? Most forests need, or will at least benefit from, some intervention: even if we do nothing else, it is vital that we protect forests' ability to regenerate by doing things like controlling non-native invasive plants and protecting young trees from deer browse. We can also use forest management to help our forests build resilience: encouraging the development of species diversity and structural diversity, helping them adapt to a changing climate, creating habitats that are under-represented across our landscape and vital to our waning biodiversity.

As we learn what it means to care for ecosystems at this moment in time, it is critical that we move from a mentality that values stability: a forest's ability to stay the same, to one that values resilience: a forest's ability to respond to change and adversity when it invariably comes. In a changed and changing world, resilience is, and will likely always be, our forests' greatest asset.

Nature notes from the CCC

From the Cambridge Conservation Commission

Just when we were all ready to put winter behind, it finally arrived! And it seems the animals around us have been confused, too. Many of our sightings have been, sadly, roadkill that we normally see on roadsides in spring. Raccoons, skunks, and opossums are often killed as they travel for breeding or food sources.

Barn owls are hooting, but March is the "normal" time for them to seek a mate.

One of the Cambridge Commission members found a TICK on their mate! A tick in FEBRUARY!

Other sightings — lots of wild turkeys, bluejays, and a bald eagle on the south side of VT Rt. 104 near Minor's.

A new friend in Cambridge has a wild raven that roosts in her garden shed. The bird comes at dusk and leaves at dawn — how

My roadworthy chest freezer: Greta in winter

By Bill Schubart

In 2016, for only the second time in my life, I bought a new car, an emission-free Nissan Leaf. I named it "Greta." I recently ran into a friend who has a Tesla all-electric vehicle (EV) also named "Greta." I'm now wondering how many EVs there are in the world bearing the Swedish teenager's name (Greta Thunberg).

I'm comfortable saying it was the extraordinary courage of this young woman who could be my granddaughter that drove my decision to go all-electric. "Okay, Boomer," I said to myself, "It's your turn to help leave a habitable world for the next generation." Almost eight years later, I'm now on my fourth Nissan Leaf.

As someone who frequently writes about health issues, I'm familiar with the DSM-5, the standard reference work for mental disorders like anxiety. They should consider adding "range anxiety" to their list of emotional symptoms. You may think that "range anxiety" is a fear that your pots and pans won't work on your induction stovetop (I've suffered from that, too) but it's anxiety over whether or not you'll make it home in your EV, especially in winter. My primary-care doc's never heard of it, but she has a BMW.

When I bought my first Greta, my only question was driving range between charges, a deciding factor for most potential buyers. The range was nominally 150 miles. My benchmark was the 88-mile roundtrip between my home in Hinesburg and Montpelier. Seemed to be fine.

I set out on my first excursion with a full 152 miles on the gauge. When I got to Montpelier, I expected to find it down 44 miles, but it was, in fact, down twice that — about 66 miles left to go before I'd need a charge. This didn't make sense, so before heading home, I pulled out the manual and read what I'd neglected to read before buying Greta.

Like all living things, her capacity is temperature-dependent. It was 10° above when I left the house so I had turned on the heat. Now, I had no choice but to risk a straight shot home.

Leaving Montpelier, I turned off the heat, and at 65 mph on the Interstate, scraped my freezing breath off the inside of the windshield with a Shell credit card while watching the miles disappear on the range indicator faster than on the odometer. I panicked.

When I got off the Interstate in Richmond and turned onto Kenyon Road, I turned off the headlights and radio, only turning the lights on again when I encountered an oncoming car.

I made it home with two miles to go.

I just sat in the dark, overwhelmed with gratitude and thinking to myself, "Should I buy a powerful flashlight to mount on Greta's roof, a wool blanket for myself, or a mile-long extension cord in case the battery dies in a rural area and I need to plug into a nearby farmhouse?"

I'm generally not one to read user manuals. I consider myself intuitive when it comes to tools and technology, though I'm often wrong. I ask you, who wants to read a 500-page manual in five languages that fills up a glove compartment and contains mostly warnings written by lawyers?

When I finally settled in to read Nissan's version of War and Peace, I learned that Greta's batteries will be severely damaged by exposure to temperatures below 13° below and that she uses battery juice to keep her battery from freezing in winter while just sitting in the driveway. I've lived in Vermont for 75 years and have yet to see a winter when it didn't get colder than that. I remember a sunny, dry winter day in Lincoln at -38°.

Did this mean I should try and bring her in the house? I imagined Greta parked near the woodstove with our two cats curled up on the hood purring.

More important, could Greta even survive here, much less provide frigid transportation beyond a few miles from home? I began to worry.

When I was young and poor as wood, I was on my fifth rusty VW Bug. I routinely drove them until they died and then bought another for $350. Bugs were notorious for their heater boxes rusting out and most of the ones I had had no heat. Some Bug owners installed gas heaters in the space where the glove box was, but they were notoriously dangerous and expensive.

I'd get so cold in winter that I imagined removing the passenger seat and installing a tiny Jotul 602 woodstove there with a steel vent going out the sunroof, but I was talked out of it by people who knew more than me, of which there were many when I was that age.

Now on my fourth Leaf, I've learned that by monitoring the temperature and my energy usage as I drive, using the eco-pedal to recharge as I drive, charging every night at home during offpeak hours, I can manage quite well. And I haven't bought junk food or fuel in a gas station for years.

When I first got it, I used to take pleasure in driving up to our local service station in Hinesburg and saying, "Fill'er up." It didn't take long for my joke to wear thin and the attendant didn't even bother to come out when I pulled up.

Only once have I used a public charging station. To charge Greta fully takes up to eight hours on a 220-volt charger and twice that on a 110-volt household outlet. That's more coffee than I can drink in one sitting. I thought about keeping a folding cot in the trunk, but my trunk is taken up entirely by my milelong extension cord.

But more important than my personal comfort are the larger environmental implications of continuing to burn fossil fuel. According to the Vermont Agency of Transportation, transportation accounts for 38% of the state's carbon emissions and in spite of earnest expressions of concerns and many unfulfilled commitments, emissions have increased in recent years and are 16% higher than they were in 1990.

A recent United Nations report has been unsparing on the havoc we're wreaking on our children's and grandchildren's home as a result of continued emissions of carbon dioxide and toxics.

While pro-business forces from the Ethan Allen Institute and the VT Fuel Dealers Association have opposed the Northeastern and Mid-Atlantic States Transportation Climate Initiative (TCI), TCI is supported by Democratic leaders in both chambers and a number of Vermont environmental groups. According to his website, Governor Scott now supports regional and national efforts to reduce greenhouse gas from transportation and heating sources.

As I get even older than I am now, I know that much of the remaining work I have left to do on Earth is to try and leave a better, more just place for my children and grandchildren.

It's disheartening to hear special interests and climate deniers froth on about their temporal material interests. I wonder what they think when they gather over the holidays with their children and grandchildren. As they play together, do they never imagine their progeny trying to make it in a world of uncontrollable fires, floods and rising sea levels, massive climate migrations, and dying food systems, all so they can drive a fossil fuel car or get their convenience foods in un-recyclable plastic? Our children comprise a quarter of our country and they will inherit our mess.

In Matthew 5:5 from the Sermon on the Mount, one of the Beatitudes tells us the meek shall inherit the Earth. Our children, who will inherit the Earth, are finding their voice and are no longer meek. We owe it to them to listen.

Sometimes when I'm driving Greta late at night. I stare at the range indicator, anxious about whether I'll make it home, I hear Greta whisper to me, "Okay, Boomer, you did good." To a braver, kinder, livable new world!

Saturday, March 9, 7:00 – 9:00 PM: Spring Soirée. Welcome all to this annual Wine and Dessert event that you come to every year. The wines are all homemade by David Osborne at Snipe Island Wines on Nashville Road, and Dave donates them to us each year. The desserts and savory items are prepared by the Library Board. To add a little fun this year we will have a Jericho and an Underhill trivia quiz that you may wish to do. There will be a prize for each town winner: a $25 gift certificate to Phoenix Books. Tickets are $10 for admission and unlimited desserts, $15 for one glass of wine and desserts, and $20 for two glasses of wine and desserts. Donations are always welcome. All proceeds from this event will go directly to DRML. For information, call 802-899-4962. Come and join your friends to say goodby to Monday, March 11, 1:00 PM: Mah Jongg is back! Please join us as we explore the ancient Chinese tile game of winds, dragons, and number tiles. If you like Rummy-style card games, you'll love Mah Jongg! All are welcome, no experience necessary!

Tuesday, March 12, 7:00 PM: Deborah Rawson Book Lovers, a monthly adult book discussion group. This month's selection is Hamnet by Maggie O'Farrell. New members are always welcome to drop in on any meeting, which is always the second Tuesday of the month at 7:00 PM. For more information on how to join, contact Chrsitine@cstaffa.com.

Thursdays, March 14, April 11, and May 9, 6:00 – 7:00 PM: Representatives Trevor Squirrell and Edye Graning will be holding monthly legislative updates for Jericho and Underhill residents at the Library. We hope to have remote attendance capability for these updates and will provide that information as we get closer to the event date. If you have specific questions or would like to know what is being discussed at the statehouse, please join us for this conversation.

Friday, March 15, 7:00 PM: The History of Coinage — pre-Roman to Vermont and United States coinage. Rick Heh of the Underhill Historical Society will describe and show examples of the earliest coinage known, followed by Roman coins, American Colonial and Vermont coins, on up to modern U.S. coinage. Before the invention of coinage, trade for goods and services was done... with the exchange of goods and services. The introduction of coins resulted in profound mental and cultural change. Coins were much lighter and easier to carry around than, say, hogs in a cart. It was a whole new way of thinking about "value" and the transaction of goods and services! Rick Heh retired from 35 years at IBM and Global Foundries, and has lived in Underhill 39 years and served the community in many roles. During the past 20 years he has appraised, bought and sold coins and helped collectors to find coins to complete their collections, and is a member of the American Numismatic Association, Numismatic Guaranty Company, and Professional Coin Grading Service and has taken advanced courses at the ANA in Colorado Springs, specializing in Counterfeit Coin Detection, Advanced Coin Grading, and World Coin Grading and Attribution.

Saturday, March 16, 10:00 AM: Jericho/Underhill Coffee Hour at DRML. Each month Jericho and Underhill residents are invited by the Community Center in Jericho to a relaxing hour or so of coffee, interesting conversation, and getting to know one another or seeing old friends. All are invited! Take a break in your busy day and come join us. This gathering is an effort by the Community Center committee to encourage and strengthen our feelings of a shared community.

Thursday March 21 7:00 PM in-person. A virtual meeting is available for those who wish to remain remote. Please contact Holly (drawsonmemlib@gmail. com) to receive the link to attend.

Tuesday, March 26, 7:00 PM: Mystery Book Club. Discussing A Distant Grave by Sarah Stewart Taylor. If you need a copy, call the library or request a copy on our online catalog using your library card. We meet in-person in the program room. A Zoom link is available. Email Holly at drawsonmemlib@yahoo.com

Wednesday, March 27, 6:30 PM: Romance Book Club. Join us for the first meeting of the Romance Book Club, as we discuss our favorite literary declarations, miscommunications, and reconciliations. Everyone and every book is welcome! We will meet in the Fireplace Room, and a Zoom link is available upon request. Please email program_assistant@drml.org with any questions.

Thursday, March 28, 10:30 AM: Mah Jongg is back! Please join us as we explore the ancient Chinese tile game of winds, dragons, and number tiles. If you like Rummy-style card games, you'll love Mah Jongg! All are welcome, no experience

Thursday, March 29, 7:00 PM: JETF Guest Presenter. Jericho Energy Task Force (JETF) presents a guest speaker at the DRML! Stay tuned for more details.

Youth programs

Here is what's going on this month! All programs meet in person at DRML, unless otherwise specified.

Tuesdays, 10:30 AM: Baby Toddler Storytime. [ages 0-5] Join us for a baby and toddler focused story time with tickles, bounces, songs, rhymes, and — of course — stories.

Fridays, 11:00 AM: Stories and Songs with Beth and David London. [ages 0-5] What makes Friday so great? Songs and stories with Beth and David London. Hope to see you there!

Tuesday, March 5, 3:00 PM: Bookmark Pennants [all ages] Give old bookmarks new life by making them into beautiful pennant strings. We've got all the supplies you need to make a great new decoration for your space.

Thursdays, March 7, 14, 21, 3:00 – 5:00 PM: Animation Club [ages 8+] We're hosting three sessions of Animation Club in March! There will be time to work on your own animations, as well as a secret project for the library. Please sign up for this very popular program when you call, visit or email the library.

Fridays, March 15, 29, 3:00 – 4:00 PM: LEGO Club [ages 6+] Build a snowflake, a snowman or a ski slope! Use a challenge card for inspiration or flip through the LEGO Ideas book. Any way you look at it, there's no wrong way to LEGO! Please sign up for this very popular program when you call, visit or email the library.

Wednesday, March 20, 3:00 - 4:30 PM: Read to Wyatt [all ages] Cozy up to therapy dog Wyatt and read him a story. He loves Elephant and Piggie, but is happy to listen to anything you want to read. Sign up for a 15-minute spot when you call, email or visit the library.

Saturday, March 23, 11:00 AM: Solar Eclipse Science and Safety [all ages] Join Vermont Astronomical Society member Scott Turnbull for information on how to safely observe the upcoming eclipse and the science behind it.

WESTFORD PUBLIC LIBRARY

Library hours: Tuesdays and Thursdays 10:00 AM – 7:00 PM, Wednesdays and Fridays 1:00 – 7:00 PM, and Saturdays 10:00 AM - 2:00 PM, no appointments needed. Patrons of all ages are welcome; children under 12 must be accompanied by an adult. If you feel you need curbside service, for whatever reason, please email Bree at the library (westfordpubliclibrary@gmail.com) and we can work something out. We want nothing to impede you from using the library.

New art at the Library: Over Time, a multimedia exhibition. Long-time Westford resident Janet Jaffe will display selected artworks from her diverse personal collection at the Westford Public Library from mid March-June. Although primarily recognized as an improvisational art quilter, Janet has long maintained her primary form of creative expression is doodling. She finds inspiration everywhere. In addition to a collection of wall quilts, viewers can expect to see pen drawings as well as assorted works assembled with recycled components, items found in nature, acquired at flea markets, and found in her world travels. Come to an Opening Reception on Friday, March 22, 6:30 - 8:00 PM to meet the artist. Refreshments served.

Zentangle is a relaxing and forgiving drawing art form, taught by Zentangle certified instructor Julia Davenport. We work on a small scale with minimal tools. If you can write your name, you can do this art form. It is a great brain break and calms the nervous system, and you will be amazed at what you can create. Two opportunities are offered:

• Mondays, March 12, 19, afterschool 4:00 - 5:00 PM: Zentangle for kids grade 2 and up. Snack and supplies provided. Kids ride the bus from school with a note from home; signup for both days required.

 Wednesday, March 27, 7:00 – 8:30 PM: Zentangle for adults. Come relax and have fun with other adults! All supplies and snacks provided. Signup required.

Tuesdays, 4:00 – 5:00 PM: Crafting with Marianne. Thursdays, 4:00 – 5:00 PM: LEGO Club. Grades 1-4, signup required (call or email). Kids will ride the bus (with note from home and EWSD transportation form) to the library each week. More information on bussing to those who sign up. Snack included. We will do a combination of free building, building challenges, and have lots of LEGO fun! Space is limited, so plan to attend weekly and sign up early. Priority will be giving to kids who did not get in the first session.

Thursdays, 11:30 AM, inside the library: Early Literacy Storytime. We sing songs, read stories, move and do crafts! No sign up needed, all ages are welcome. March 7: Chicks; March 14: Green; March 21: Bunnies; March 28: Eggs.

First Thursday of the month (March 7), 6:30 – 8:00 PM: Makers' Group. All types of crafters are welcome to attend. Bring projects to show off, share expertise, and enjoy each others' company.

Wednesday, March 6, 7:00 - 8:00 PM: Community Conversation about possible Library Capital Improvements. The Westford Public Library has the opportunity to apply for a grant through the U.S. Treasury Capital Projects Fund for Libraries. We hope to use this grant to make significant improvements to the interior space of the library and make the building fully ADA compliant. We have worked with Black River Designs architects to come up with conceptual plans in order to apply for this once in a lifetime grant opportunity. Come see what we are thinking of doing. We will plan more of these meetings if we secure this grant. This is more of a conceptual "show and tell". We hope to see our active library users.

Tuesdays, March 12, 26, 10:30 AM - 12:00 PM: Coffee and Cards. Whatever your game — we will play it. Meet with folks at the library for coffee, conversation, and cards — a great opportunity to socialize and keep those card playing skills sharp. Open to anyone, especially looking to connect with seniors. Please be prompt so we can include all in play.

Wednesday, March 13, 7:00 – 9:00 PM: Trustees Meeting. Tuesday, March 19, 7:00 – 8:30 PM: The World of Weather -Pulling Back the Curtain on What the National Weather Service Does. Do you find weather fascinating? Always wondered how the forecast comes to be? NOAA Meteorologist Jessica Storm and staff from the Burlington Office of the National Weather Service will give a presentation on how they forecast the weather.

Bring your weather questions!

Wednesday, March 20, 7:00 - 8:00 PM: Adult Book Group reads The Picture of Dorian Gray by Oscar Wilde. An astounding novel of decadence, debauchery, and secrecy from one of Ireland's greatest writers. Enthralled by his own exquisite portrait, Dorian Gray makes a Faustian bargain to sell his soul in exchange for eternal youth and beauty. Under the influence of Lord Henry Wotton, he is drawn into a corrupt double life, where he is able to indulge his desires while remaining a gentleman in the eyes of polite society. Only Dorian's picture bears the traces of his decadence. A knowing account of a secret life and an analysis of the darker side of late Victorian society, the novel offers a disturbing portrait of an individual coming face to face with the reality of his soul. Shocking in its suggestion of unspeakable sin, this novel was later used as evidence against Wilde when he was tried for indecency in 1895. Print and audio copies available at the library; ebook and audio books available on Libby.

Thursday, March 21, 6:30 – 8:00 PM: Table Top Game Night. Hosted by avid table top gamers Bill and Martha McClintock who will bring games from their extensive home game collection to share with those who come. This is a new group, so we will see how it goes. Please come to make things like this possible. Snacks provided. Bring your own beverages.

The Westford Food Shelf is now open twice a month, on the first Wednesday of each month (March 6, April 3), 4:30 – 5:30 PM, on the third Saturday (March 18), 8:00 - 9:00 AM. With increased openings, they need more inventory! The Westford Public Library has food collection bins at all curbside pickups from now on. These bins are for non-perishable food and

RICHMOND LIBRARY

Wednesday, March 13: Vermont Reads: Last Night at the Telegraph Club. RFL joins libraries and community groups around Vermont in a big community facilitated discussion of this novel by Malinda Lo. The book is suited for teens and adults and focuses on a Chinese American older teencoming of age in 1950s San Francisco. Copies of the book are available to take home (to keep or to borrow) now. There will be a free swing dancing lesson on Friday, April 5 and community art with Radiate Art Space later in April. Join us as we explore themes of Chinese American immigrant experience, McCarthyism, and queerness in mid-century America.

Tuesday mornings through April 9: AARP Volunteer Tax Preparers. Volunteers working with AARP are meeting with seniors to prepare tax returns in the library community room. Call the library (802-434-3036) to schedule an appointment.

Weekly/Monthly Children's Programs Weekly programs at the RFL run from September-May and follow the MMUUSD schedule for vacation days and weather

Wednesdays, 10:00 AM - 12:00 PM: Storytime/Playgroup. The good times kick off with stories and action songs in the Library Community Room and then the toys come out for free play with friends new and old. Co-sponsored by the Library and the Lund Center. Kids infant-five years and their grownups are invited to join the fun.

Mondays, 10:30 AM: Baby Laptime. This short, active story time is for our youngest little book lovers and their grownups. We'll look at picture books, sing simple songs, do some rhyming and bouncing and sometimes get out the shakers and scarves. This program is designed for infants and early toddlers.

Third Saturday (March 16) of every month, September-May, 10:30 AM: Hora del Cuento (Spanish Storytime). Join native Spanish speakers Chichi and Eva in the Community Room for 30 minutes of picture book stories and rhymes. This program is a great introduction to Spanish for young children and a nice way for parents of older children placed in the Spanish Immersion Program to hear the language.

Trustees Meetings are on the second Monday of the month (March 11) via Zoom until further notice. All meetings are open to the public.

Covenant Community Church — "Come As You Are!" What is the Covenant? The unique character of the Covenant is expressed in the design of the logo — people united in Christ, people serving people in God's name, and people bringing people to Christ. The basis of the design is symbolic of four people facing north, south, east, and west. Note that each one's arms are outstretched, indicating the church's outreach in mission and service to the world. The four are part of the whole, yet their hands do not touch, symbolizing their unity in the freedom and evangelical warmth that characterizes the Covenant. The geometric arrangement of the four figures results in a cross-like pattern, representative of the center of our faith. The center circle symbolizes the unity and the bond of fellowship which we call "the Covenant."

OBITUARIES

On Monday, January 2024, Carol A. Mazuzan, 81, of Underhill, VT passed away peacefully at home among her loving family. Carol was born in Burlington, VT on December 20, 1942 to Anna O'Sullivan and Edward Lynch. She attended Catholic schools in Burlington, graduating from Rice Memorial High School (Burlington) in 1960, and then went on to Jeanne Mance School of Nursing (Burlington), graduating in 1963. She worked as a nurse for many years and then attended Trinity College (Burlington), where she received a business degree, after which she became director of medical records at Fletcher Allen Health Care, Colchester, VT, retiring in 1998. While working at the hospital she met Dr. John Mazuzan, and they eventually married in 1993. Together they shared their love for theater, travel, and family gatherings. In 2003 Carol's life was suddenly altered by a spinal cord injury. In the face of this adversity, Carol's warrior spirit, upbeat nature, and keen sense of humor were inspiring to all. As a former colleague reflected, "She was someone to admire." Following the passing of her beloved husband in 2016, Carol moved to the home of her daughter Kiersten (Treybal) in Underhill, VT. Nestled under Mount Mansfield and surrounded by natural beauty, Carol's life was full — full of love, laughter, music, and the unwavering care and support from Kiersten, John, Natalie, and Ben. Carol was able to share in joyous milestones and watch her grandchildren grow into amazing young adults. As one friend thoughtfully observed, "They made it possible for Carol to live her very best life." Carol loved having visitors, who were immediately drawn in by her charming wit and storytelling. She would fondly share memories of Broadway shows and fun trips taken with Dr. Mazuzan, and she enjoyed recounting Burlington's rich history and family connections. On any given day, Carol could be found devouring books, playing card games or belting out show tunes. Visitors were always welcome in the Treybal home, including Carol's dear friends who regularly came to play bridge, as well as members of the Mazuzan family who would fill the house on long weekends and holidays. Carol is survived by her daughter Kiersten Treybal and her husband John of Underhill, VT; her stepchildren John Mazuzan (Nina), Mark Mazuzan (Vanessa), Christopher Mazuzan, Stephanie Mazuzan, and Ellen Petty (Raymond); her grandchildren Natalie, Ben, Alex, Zachary, Madeleine, Georgia, Kirk, Scott, Alicia, Rebekah, and Forrest; and her great-grandchildren Lukas, Livy, Charlie, Henry, Colby, and Lucy. She also leaves her sister Mary McMaster, niece Catherine Paya, and nephew Jeff St. Peter (Yoko). Carol was predeceased by her parents Anna and Edward, husband Dr. John Mazuzan, granddaughter Brittany, daughter-in-law Ellen, brother-in-law Jim McMaster, and nephew-in-law Jim Paya. The family would like to thank all the friends and nurses who visited and cared for Carol. A celebration of Carol's life will follow later

Christine Wheatley (Burns), Kit to those who knew her, passed away peacefully on Monday, February 5, 2024 surrounded by her family after an 18-month struggle with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS) in Freeport, ME. She was born in Lockport, NY on October 12, 1949 to Gertrude McGreevy and Leo Burns, the youngest of five children. Kit graduated from DeSales High School, and Catherine McCauley School of Practical Nursing. She began working at Lockport Memorial Hospital in pediatrics. She married her DeSales Catholic High School classmate Dick Wheatley in 1971, and shortly thereafter they moved to Vermont > where they raised their family. in vermont Kit worked at Fanny Allen Hospital and in the intensive care nursery at the Medical Center Hospital of Vermont, helped Dick in his office, and later worked in elder care. After retirement Kit and Dick spent winters at Travelers' Rest in Dade City, FL and traveled the U.S. and Canada during the warmer months. Kit was always excited to share details from the latest book she had read and had a special interest in Irish history, Celtic music, and genealogy. She was a prolific organizer and volunteer supporting initiatives ranging from the St. Thomas Parish Social Concerns Group and Yard Sale, Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, the Bill Koch Youth Ski League, food drives in Vermont and Florida, the Vermont Classic Car Club, and more. In later years she and Dick volunteered through when social media platforms began to introduce algorithms and features that keep our kids hooked to their screens for hours a day. I am proud to be the lead sponsor of the Vermont Kids Code, a national, bipartisan movement to regulate online platforms so that they protect our children's privacy and well-being. I expect consumer products like my daughter's car seat and crib to be making her safer, not harming her. We currently cannot expect the same of our social media platforms, and it is time we have these digital protections here in Vermont.

Over Time, a multimedia exhibition by long-time Westford resident Janet Jaffe will display selected artworks from her diverse personal collection at the Westford Public Library from mid March-June. Although primarily recognized as an improvisational art quilter, Janet has long maintained her primary form of creative expression is doodling. In addition to a collection of wall quilts, viewers can expect to see pen drawings as well as assorted works assembled with recycled components, items found in nature, acquired at flea markets, and found in her world travels. Opening Reception at the Library, on the Common in Westford, on Friday, March 22, 6:30 – 8:00 PM. Meet the artist; refreshments served.

Wishing you a meaningful and spirited Town Meeting Day. As always, please reach out with any questions or concerns. It is a privilege to serve you.

Topics top of mind for Town Meeting Day (and beyond)

By Thomas Chittenden, State Senator Chittenden-Southeast

February 29

During this Town Meeting Day time of year, what is top of mind for you and what you want prioritized down in the the State house in Montpelier?

A very short survey to collect your thoughts, if you are willing to offer them, can be found at https://bit.ly/3Tjn1ju. Responses are anonymous if you don't enter your contact information (but if you'd like a follow up to your comments, please be sure to enter your email address).

Update from the VT Senate

By Senator Irene Wrenner, Chittenden North

February 29

In the days before Town Meeting and our weeklong break, legislators have been doubling down on committee work while boning up on other committees' bills, so that we can answer constituent questions in our respective towns.

State House hallways are brimming with visiting students and people advocating for various causes each day. Evenings offer competing presentations, films, and meetups with passionate hosts. Emails to legislators get read in between.

The projected education tax increase is a dark cloud on the horizon. Inflationary pressures (including a 16% increase in health care costs) and a new pupil weighting plan have driven costs considerably higher. For details on the latter, see https:// vtdigger.org/2024/02/22/how-vermonts-education-fundinglandscape-has-changed/.

Another dark cloud is the growing number of Vermonters who are food insecure and lack a place to call home. Having met someone who sleeps in their car, I'm hard pressed to imagine how people survive our winters this way.

Vermonter Bess O'Brien has documented both challenges in her moving new film Just Getting By (https://kingdomcounty. org/bess-obrien-films/just-getting-by), which will screen at Main Street Landing in Burlington Friday-Saturday, March 22-23. I've seen it and highly recommend it!

The child car seat bill that I wrote about last month is now part (sections 24-25) of S.309, which the Senate has passed. It awaits consideration by the House.

Three months' research into $20M of regional dispatch activity led me to draft an amendment to the budget adjustment act (H.839). While it didn't pass, I plan to continue educating peers on the need for oversight and accountability there.

I plan to attend the Fairfax Town Meeting on Saturday, March 2 and Essex's Information Session on Monday, March 4.

Find me at the Westford/Essex State House Reps conversation on Saturday, March 16, 3:00 PM at the Westford Common Hall. Join me and the House Reps in Milton for a Community Conversation at the Library at 10:00 AM on Saturday, March 23.

Lucinda "Cindy" Sherman Hamlet of Underhill, VT

passed away peacefully on Tuesday, February 6, 2024, after a courageous 14-year battle with Parkinson's disease. Cindy was born in Watertown, NY to Virginia and Nathaniel Sherman. Cindy and her siblings were raised on a farm outside of Watertown, which engendered Cindy's lifelong love of all creatures, big and small. After high school, hoping to meet the cowboy of her dreams, Cindy ventured west to Bozeman, MT and enrolled at Montana State University. After two years, she transferred to the University of Colorado, where she fell in love with a man from Boston, MA, Stanton Hamlet. After graduation, the couple married and moved to Lexington, MA for a few years before finally settling in Vermont. Cindy and Stan raised their three children on a farm in Underhill, where they collected goats, sheep, horses, pigs, chickens, ducks, geese, rabbits, cats, and dogs. For many years, Cindy taught kindergarten at Orchard School in South Burlington, VT, where she was adored by her students and coworkers. Cindy maintained deep and lasting friendships wherever she went. She served on the Underhill Library Board and participated in hiking groups, ski groups, bridge groups, and book clubs in both Burlington and Underhill. Cindy's favorite activities took place outdoors — she loved to hike, bike, snowshoe, and ski. In her later years she would walk the trails daily near her Harvey Road home, with walking sticks and her beloved dog, Josie. Cindy leaves behind her three children: Russ and his wife, Meg Hamlet, of Bainbridge Island, WA; Penny and her husband, Peter Serrurier, of Portland, OR; and Sandy and her husband, Fred Barber, of Cambridge, VT. Cindy had four beloved grandsons: Alex Serrurier, Nathaniel Serrurier, Curren Hamlet, and Ethan Barber. Cindy also leaves behind her two siblings, Carol Sherman Knapp of Damariscotta, ME and Chick Sherman of Watertown, NY. Cindy's husband of nearly 50 years died in 2010. Cindy's children are grateful to the University of Vermont Hospice and the incredible community of Underhill, where Cindy leaves behind so many wonderful neighbors and friends. There will be no services, but please consider a gift in honor of Cindy to the Underhill Historical Society or the Vermont Land Trust.

Jack Long, age 74, longtime resident of Jericho, VT, died at home on Saturday, February 17, 2024, his life shortened by high-grade glioblastoma. Jack was born in Washington, D.C. to Madeline F. and Brig. Gen. Robert F. Long. His early years and education were spent in multiple locations in the U.S., followed by college at the University of Massachusetts Amherst and medical school at the University of Vermont ((Burlington, VT), where he received his MD in 1975. His pediatric training included residency programs at the University of Rochester and the University of Washington and a fellowship in Neonatology at UVM. Throughout his long career in pediatrics in Vermont and Haiti, Jack embodied the philosophy of an early mentor, GRUSK with PAP: be gentle, respectful, understanding, sensitive, and kind,

Green Mountain Conservation Camp registration open

If you are 12-14 years old and want to learn about Vermont's wildlife and gain outdoor skills, consider attending one of the Vermont Fish and Wildlife Department's Green Mountain Conservation Camps (GMCC) this summer. If you are a GMCC alum, 16 or younger, consider coming back for another summer.

The one-week camp programs are held at Lake Bomoseen in Castleton and at Buck Lake in Woodbury. Campers participate in hands-on learning about fish and wildlife conservation, ecology, forestry, orienteering, safe firearm and archery techniques, swimming, canoeing, fishing, and more. Natural resource professionals come to the camp to share information on their programs and take campers out for field activities.

Whether kids come alone or with friends, they are guaranteed to meet new people and form new bonds while experiencing Vermont's natural resources to the fullest," said Fish and Wildlife Education Specialist Hannah Phelps. "An important take-away message and common theme during the week is that conserving and managing habitat will help ensure Vermont will have fish and wildlife in the future.

"We would love to have all of the advanced sessions filled for campers who have already attended a basic session," added Phelps. "Advanced sessions are for campers who have completed a basic session in a previous summer and who are 16 years old or younger. Advanced sessions include more in-depth activities about backpacking, camping, natural resources, and unique hunting and fishing techniques.'

Conservation Camps open Sunday, June 16 and continue until Friday, August 16. Tuition is $250 for the week, including food, lodging, and equipment, and financial assistance is available.

Information and registration are available at www. vtfishandwildlife.com.

Conscious Parenting

Join the Lamoille Family Center in Morrisville for an informative introductory workshop series (on Zoom) of the parenting paradigm Conscious Parenting with Vermont's only Conscious Parenting Coach, Suzy Blais. We will cover some of the popular parenting myths from Dr. Shefali Tsabary's groundbreaking book The Awakened Family: How to Raise Empowered, Resilient, and Conscious Children. Together we will explore and discuss these common parenting myths that we have come to believe, and how they may be negatively impacting your child's growth, your growth as a parent/caregiver, and the overall health and wellbeing of your family. This community is for you if you are looking to become a cycle-breaker and parent from a new place of intention and awareness. The Zoom workshops held from 6:00 – 7:30 PM on Tuesdays, March 12 and 19. Register online at www.lamoillefamilycenter.org.

A Peek at Puritan Gravestone Symbology

By Peter Opstrup, Cambridge Historical Society

Ever wondered what a grimacing or grinning skull means on old 17th and 18th century gravestones? Why do they have wings? Are those geometric shapes just decoration? Jen Bartlau discusses all this and more.

A video of her presentation A Peek at Puritan Gravestone Symbology is now available on YouTube, online at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aD0D-SIUcSw.

Sugar makers welcome visitors for Maple Open House Weekend

Learn, taste and explore Vermont's sweetest season and the first crop of 2024! The Vermont Maple Sugar Makers Association is hosting Spring Maple Open House Weekend Saturday-Sunday, March 23-24.

Vermont continues to lead the nation by a commanding margin as the top maple producing state. In 2023, Vermont's sugar makers produced 2.05 million gallons according to USDA statistics, which represents about half of the U.S. production of maple syrup. With warmer temps predicted, the 2024 crop will be off to a good start. Sugar makers throughout the state look forward to offering you a taste and sharing their craft!

With over 70 sugar makers and maple partners all around the state participating, Spring Maple Open House Weekend offers the perfect opportunity to celebrate Vermont's sweetest season. Our popular event offers Vermont's sugar makers a chance to welcome visitors into their sugarhouses to learn, taste, and explore firsthand why people should think of Vermont first when they think of maple syrup. Visitors will learn about the heritage and craft of sugar making, from tree to table!

The sap is running and there are plenty of ways to enjoy some traditional and not-so-traditional Open House activities — sugarhouse tours, sampling syrup, tours of the woods, pancake and waffle breakfasts, and plenty of maple products to taste including maple donuts, maple cotton candy and maple ice cream, and creemees! Find all the details and plan your weekend using our Maple Map at www.VermontMaple.org/MOHW.

Spring is also the time to participate in Vermont's Maple Ambassador scholarship competition — a program of the Vermont Maple Festival, sponsored by the Franklin County Maple Sugarmakers' Association and the Vermont Maple Sugar Makers' Association. Ambassadors receive a $2500 scholarship while they help promote and educate folks in the region about the craft of sugar making, from participation in county fairs to the Big E in Massachusetts and much more! Applications are due by April 10, 2024; details and the full application on the Vermont Maple Festival website: https://bit.ly/MapleAmbassador.

Think spring with GMP rebates

From Green Mountain Power

GMP offers rebates on electric yard care equipment, so you can really green things up. Ditch the dirty, noisy lawnmower, hedge trimmer, leaf blower and more — and go electric instead. Through Sunday, June 30, save $100 on lawn tractors, $50 on push mowers, and $25 on electric chainsaws, leaf blowers, and trimmers. Buy a bundle of three items and save an additional $50.

All GMP rebates are based on the carbon being offset by switching away from fossil fuel, and our programs are designed to reduce costs for all GMP customers. Learn more and apply for your rebate online at http://www.greenmountainpower.com/rebates-programs/home-and-yard/

United Way Volunteer Connection

GET CONNECTED TO VOLUNTEERING — United Way's Volunteer Connection site is set up to help connect agencies and volunteers. Go online to https://unitedwaynwvt.galaxydigital.com/ to learn more about these and other opportunities.

SORT OUR SHELVES – Green Mountain Habitat for Humanity receives daily donations to the ReStore and needs volunteers to help sort, stock, and organize. Tools, training, safety equipment, and snacks provided! Email volunteer@vermonthabitat.org.

FINDING A FUTURE – The Governor's Institutes of Vermont (GIV) helps young Vermonters discover their futures! This year, GIV is celebrating its 40th anniversary and is looking for volunteers to research online to discover alumni they have lost contact with over the years so they can join in the celebration. The project can be done remotely and requires a commitment of two to four hours a week. Contact tamira@giv.org.

THE BEGINNNG OF THE RAINBOW – Northwest Counseling & Support Services is looking for Camp Rainbow volunteers with the following skills and attributes: child-friendly, patient, sense of humor, positive attitude, the ability to balance playfulness with maturity, and flexibility. Contact info@ncssinc.org

VIDEO EDITOR NEEDED – The Janet S. Munt Family Room is in need of a video editor to do remote work on his or her own time. They have several videos in need of editing, including some short interviews they would like combined into one longer, compelling story video. Others need editing for time, lighting, or sound. There are "bonus points" for a volunteer who can add accurate multi-language sub-titles! Contact Laurie Keve, 802-440-0531 or laurie@thefamilyroomvt.org.

SHARE YOUR PASSION – Ethan Allen Residence is looking for talented volunteers who would love to share their talents and passions with a very receptive audience. Do you sing? Play an instrument? Tell stories? Do a magic act? Residents are just waiting to be entertained by your special talent! The Activities Team will work with you to coordinate a day and time that works for everyone. Reach out to Sue Wirth, swirth@livingwellgroup. org.

TAKE A HIKE! – COTS is gearing up for its annual COTS Walk to be held on Sunday, May 5 and is looking for volunteers to help with this year's extra special event. The walk will begin and end in Battery Park with music, Ben & Jerry's ice cream, and other fun activities. Volunteers can help guide walkers through downtown Burlington, visiting some of the shelters operated by COTS and experiencing the path a person experiencing homelessness might take when using COTS services. New and exciting this year is that construction will be complete on the new Main Street Family Housing which will provide 16 units of permanent, affordable housing for families who have experienced homelessness in the Burlington community. To join the fun, contact volunteer@cotsonline.org.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE – Sara Holbrook Community Center has numerous volunteer opportunities just waiting to be filled: spend time with and mentor children in afterschool programs, shoot hoops with middle-schoolers at the Teen Center, help with mailings and administrative work, collect food for their food pantry, help with special events, assist with website and desktop support, and more. Background check required. Contact Charlotte Broadbent, 802-862-634, Ext. 121, or cbroadbent@saraholbrookcc.org.

Lamoille Fibernet 2024 focus: building your network

By Lisa Birmingham

Lamoille FiberNet Executive Director

February 19

Lamoille FiberNet Communications Union District had a very productive 2023 and is poised to make great progress in 2024. Our 2023 efforts and 2024 priorities are summarized below and on our website but first, I want to thank our remarkable Governing Board for their leadership; thank the Lamoille County Planning Commission, the Lamoille Economic Development Corporation, and the Vermont Community Broadband Board (VCBB) and their talented staff; and thank our Lamoille County legislative delegation and our federal delegation for their unwavering support.

2023 milestones:

Developed a two-phase Universal Service Plan to bring highspeed fiber broadband internet to all unserved and underserved addresses in Lamoille County.

Successfully applied for $15.6 million in VCBB funding to build Phase 1 of our two-phase plan, to reach 86% (4170) of Lamoille County's unserved and underserved addresses. Because our partner Consolidated Communications (CCI) is investing almost $10 million, Phase 1 is fully funded and can begin this spring.

Raised $225,800 in local ARPA (American Rescue Plan Act) pledges, thanks to widespread community support, to support construction costs in Belvidere, Cambridge, Eden, Hyde Park, Johnson, Wolcott, and Waterville. The VCBB approved a 1:1 match, doubling the investments in these seven communities.

Negotiated a 20-year partnership with Consolidated Communications (CCI) to operate and maintain the new fiber network. For current information on Fidium products and pricing visit https://www.fidiumfiber.com/fiber-locations and scroll down the Vermont list to your town.

In 2023, we recruited several new board members, launched a new website, and completed audits for 2021 and 2022.

Turning to 2024, we have four major objectives:

Complete construction of Phase 1, which includes all unserved and underserved areas in Belvidere, Eden, Johnson, and Waterville, all of Lamoille FiberNet's footprint in Elmore and Wolcott, most of Hyde Park, except the northeast corner, and all of Morristown except a few addresses on VT Rt. 15 east near the Wolcott border. We plan to build roughly two-thirds of Cambridge and Stowe, building to the ends of line in Sterling Valley and Nebraska Valley in Stowe, and North Cambridge to Fletcher in Cambridge. We will be sharing our construction plans with each community and publishing town-by-town details when they become available.

Develop a program, funded by the local ARPA grants, to subsidize installation or extraordinary construction costs for some premises.

Design and fund Phase 2, which will complete the universal service plan, ideally by December 2025.

Draft a long-term sustainability and governance plan, to ensure that our grant commitments are fulfilled, and our communities continue to benefit from digital equity initiatives.

Our 2024 plan is a manageable challenge. With the continued support and leadership from our Governing Board, our communities, and legislative leaders, I am confident we will be successful.

Take the chill off: save 75% on weatherization costs

From Efficiency Vermont

Comprehensive air sealing and insulation can keep your home warm and cozy, boost energy efficiency, and help you cut heating (and cooling) expenses, when you enlist the help of an Efficiency Excellence Network contractor, with 75% off project costs — up to $9500

It's possible to make your home more comfortable and efficient for around $50 a month with financing options that start at 0% interest with no money down. Or, add the monthly payment directly to your electric bill (for participating electric utilities) with the Weatherization Repayment Assistance Program (WRAP).

You could also be eligible for federal tax credits, further offsetting project costs. Low-income Vermonters may qualify for free weatherization services.

ART / MUSIC / THEATER

VT Arts Council virtual showcase of VSU student filmmakers: The Vermont Arts Council Spotlight Gallery announces its upcoming virtual exhibit, a showcase of student films from the Vermont State University (VTSU) Cinema Studies & Production program. The exhibit will be online through Tuesday, April 30, with a virtual artist talk with the student filmmakers on Friday, March 8, 5:00 - 6:00 PM. The exhibit, titled Telling Stories Frame by Frame: A VTSU Student Film & Video Showcase, will feature students from VTSU's Castleton and Lyndon campuses, where Cinema Studies & Production is offered as a concentration within the Bachelor of Arts in Communications program. Students learn the craft and history of cinema as an art to ready themselves for careers in advertising, communications, television production, and independent filmmaking. The variety of student work showcased includes a video essay about Spanish cinema after the death of dictator Francisco Franco; a short film about an isolated young man with diabetes finding connection; experimental shorts about nostalgia, anxiety, and memory; and more . Winter 2023 VTSU graduate Jacob "Gonzo" Gonzalez notes, "The coursework in the Cinema Studies & Production concentration allowed me to build on the ideas I had for my films. I learned many different techniques, perspectives, and styles of filmmaking to convey the feelings I was trying to create. The faculty played a huge role in giving feedback and guidance to make the best possible content I can create." The exhibit aligns with the Vermont Arts Council and Vermont Creative Network's advocacy in the Legislature for state investments into the film and creative media sector. The virtual exhibit, and more information about the Spotlight Gallery, can be viewed on the Vermont Arts Council website at vermontartscouncil.org/gallery, where registration for the virtual artist talk on March 8 is also available.

The Jericho Town Hall Art Committee is having an art reception for the artists participating in Farms and Fields. It will be on Saturday, March 9 from 10:00 AM – 12:00 PM. Coffee, tea, and juice as well as assorted finger foods will be served. Come see the varied interpretations of the theme including work utilizing mosses and lichens that can look like drone footage of fields.

Bluegrass at Higher Ground: Breakin' Strings will be at Higher Ground (Williston Rd., S. Burlington) on Saturday, March 9 at 8:30 PM. Breakin' Strings is a Nashville recording group based out of Maine and Vermont. The band's five members bring some elements of jamgrass to traditional bluegrass in a fiery, up-tempo way. Cliff Gelina, leader and lead vocalist, has a soulful voice that heralds to that of Chris Stapleton. Cody Howe's wildfire guitar picking has been compared to Tony Rice's signature style. Sam Acus' mandolin playing takes on a unique, refreshing tone due to his heavy jazz influences. Amanda Gelina holds down the bass like nobody else, and Steven Peterson rips it up on banjo. Breakin' Strings was an IBMA Showcase band in 2022, featured in magazines including Bluegrass Unlimited, the Bluegrass Standard, and the Nashville Voyager. The articles agree this is show is not a show to miss. And they're true to their name! Come to the show and count how many strings they break... Tickets available at https://shorturl.at/ghjT1.

Tour the Solar System with VT Symphonic Winds on March In anticipation of the coming solar eclipse on Monday, April 8, the Vermont Symphonic Winds (VSW), conducted by music director Lisa Jablow, will present PRECLIPSE, a complete performance of The Planets by English composer Gustav Holst. The concert will take place on Wednesday, March 13, at 7:00 – 8:30 PM at the Elley-Long Music Center, St. Michael's College, Ethan Allen Ave., Colchester. The VSW will be joined by Bella Voce, under the direction of Dawn Willis. Each of the seven movements in the work paints a vivid musical portrait of a planet; in concert order: Mars, Venus, Mercury, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, and Neptune. Interestingly, Earth is not represented because Holst created the work from an astrological perspective. Since the Earth has no astrological significance, he did not include it. Please join us for this unique musical and astronomical experience. Questions? Message us via Facebook or Instagram (search for "vermontsymphonicwinds" for both) or email vermontsymphonicwinds@gmail.com! Admission at the door: $15 for adults, $10 for seniors and children. The Bryan Memorial Gallery in Jeffersonville celebrates the opening of their 40th season on Wednesday, March 6 with three unique exhibitions. The Legacy 2024 Collection [through December 22], features the works of 17 contemporary artists and includes selected works by Mary Bryan and Alden Bryan. The Legacy Collection continues to honor the tradition of artists who visit Vermont and New England specifically to paint. The Legacy Collection will be on display in the Main Gallery until May 15, after which the exhibit will be displayed in the East Gallery until December 22, 2024. An exhibition catalogue will be available. For the second year, the Gallery will exhibit the Small Members' Group Show. [March 6-May 12]. Entirely artist-curated, this exhibition features works in a variety of styles and mediums, selected from the collections of the participating artists. Finally, the Gallery continues to collaborate with Lamoille Union School, displaying the most recent Student Art Exhibition in the Middle Gallery from March 6- 24. Always intriguing, this exhibit provides a glimpse into the work being created at the high school art level. Opening Reception for all three exhibits: Saturday, March 9, 3:00 - 6:00 PM at the Jeffersonville Gallery. The reception is free and open to the public. Please attend and bring a friend! Gallery Hours: Wednesday-Sunday, 11:00 AM -4:00 PM or by appointment Mondays and Tuesdays. SongFarmers, a community music jam — a place for friends and neighbors to play music just for the fun of it. SongFarmers meets on every third Wednesday of the month (March 20), 6:00 – 8:00 PM at the Jericho Community Center, Browns Trace, Jericho Center. For people of all ages who want to play folk, Americana, blues, bluegrass, Celtic, and more on acoustic instruments; no electronics except keyboard and bass. It's a circle gathering where everyone who wants to will have a chance to lead songs. Common tunes with simple chord progressions are encouraged so that everyone can play along. Both songs and instrumentals are great. Please note this is not a performance, open mic, or lesson. Folks who want to sing, or just enjoy the gathering, are welcome. Bring snacks and drinks if you like, but no alcohol. Free. Registration is appreciated; contact CommunityJamJUVT@gmail.com.

Weekly Community Choir — If you love to sing (or want to join in on the piano to help folks learn parts and play accompaniment), come join Mountainsong! We are a volunteerrun community singing group that harmonizes together in four parts on the second and fourth Thursdays (during the winter) of the month (March 13, 27), 6:30 – 8:00 PM at the Mount Mansfield Unitarian Universalist Meeting House, 195 VT Rt. 15, Jericho (across from Packard Road). Just bring your voice and join us! Do you learn by ear or read music? Either way works here, where our aim is to sing for the joy it (no performances except a short one for family and friends at the end of the season). Come as often as you are able. Cost: $1 a week toward space rental. We also ask for a contribution to purchase music for the group of $7 per semester (fall and spring). Questions about the group? Contact Lynne Robbins, 802-899-2436 or lar.2436@gmail.com, or Doug Varney, 802-343-4513 or vthockeyman@gmail.com, or just show up!

April 7: Heliand; May 5, Howling Waters.

Animating Infrastructure Grants support community projects that integrate art with infrastructure improvements. The Council's definition of infrastructure is broad. It includes community facilities and services such as buildings, trails, water or sewer systems, roads, power systems, parks, and more. Deadline: Monday, March 18, 2024. Learn more at https://www.vermontartscouncil.org/grants/find-a-grant/organizations/animating-infrastructure/.

Essex High School Theater Presents an original one act play: Ellie by Theo Herrin at the Essex High School, Essex Junction, on the Auditorium stage, Thursday-Saturday, March 14-16 at 7:00 PM and Sunday, March 17 at 2:00 PM. When a lifealtering tragedy changes the course of Elliot's life, his carefree youth comes to an end. Speaking to his once-friends becomes impossible; his parents understand nothing; his younger sibling infuriates him; and he is haunted by a terrifying group of escaped prisoners, who seem to want nothing more than to tell him that everything is his fault, and nothing will ever change. The question is not whether escape is possible — but whether Elliot is strong enough to find it. Selected seating tickets available at the door and online at ewsd.org/ehstheater.

News from Burlington City Arts (BCA; https://www. burlingtoncityarts.org/): In the lower-level and first-floor galleries, Here Now: Art and Migration (https://www. burlingtoncityarts.org/exhibition/here-now-art-and-migration) features a group of international and national artists exploring concepts of borders, movement, and migration across local urban centers and global geographies. Sajjad Abbas (Baghdad, Iraq), Teresa Baker (Los Angeles, CA), Lydia Nakashima Degarrod (Oakland, CA), Verónica Gaona (Houston, TX), Paula Higa (Burlington, VT), Matthew Schrader (Middlebury, VT), and Edra Soto (Chicago, IL) boldly reimagine borders as sites of historical investigation, social reckoning, and conduits of an emerging aesthetic. On the second floor, Margaret Jacobs: Kinship (https:// www.burlingtoncityarts.org/exhibition/margaret-jacobs-kinship) explores the tensions and harmonies between the man-made and natural worlds through steel sculptures and finely crafted jewelry. Jacobs is an enrolled member of the Akwesasne Mohawk tribe and cultural histories and identity inform her belief that materials have their own distinct narratives.

Calling all emerging artists! Apply by Friday, March 15 for the 2024 Diane Gabriel visual Artist Award (https://www.burlingtoncityarts.org/artist-resources#DGVAA) and get the support you need to grow your artistic practice in 2024 with a prize valued at $6K. Established in 2021, this award honors Diane Gabriel (1947-2017), a celebrated artist and educator. Inspired by Gabriel's often experimental creative practice, the award provides support to an up-and-coming artist to allow them to catalyze innovative ideas, experiment with media, and explore new horizons.

The Vermont Arts Council is now accepting applications for its annual Creation Grant, which supports artists or artist groups in creating new work. Grant funds may be used to compensate artists for time spent creating new work, to purchase materials, or to rent equipment or space for the process. This highly competitive program is reviewed by an independent panel of practicing artists and arts professionals. Both established and emerging artists are encouraged to apply. Examples of fundable projects: a multimedia artist creating a new video series; a writer completing the first draft of a novel; a dance ensemble developing choreography for a new piece; a visual artist creating art for exhibition that explores new subjects and techniques; and a musician composing music for a new album. Application deadline: Tuesday, April 9. Learn more and apply at https://www.vermontartscouncil.org/grants/find-a-grant/artists/creation/.

Cambridge Rec survey for seniors' programming

The Cambridge Recreation Board is seeking input from residents age 55+ to help expand programming for the seniors in our community. If you are a Town of Cambridge resident, 55+ years of age, please share your preferences by completing an online survey at https://bit.ly/CambridgeRecSeniorSurvey24.

If you need help accessing the survey, you may go to the Varnum Library during open hours. The survey is available through Friday, March 15.

Thank you taking the time to share your thoughts and preferences. We value your input!

Westford Senior Luncheon March 11

How does a St. Patrick's Day feast sound? Westford current and past residents are encouraged to join us on Monday, March 11 at the Red Brick Meeting House for our next luncheon. Doors open at 11:30 AM for socializing and the meal service should begin around 12:00 PM.

Following the meal, we have a speaker lined up to give a fraud watch presentation. This is information we all could benefit from!

As always, feel free to reach out with any questions to one of us — Mary Fay, 802-878-1215, or Cori Hill, 802-238-1018 —and if you are feeling poorly, please pass on lunch so we can avoid spreading any illness.

From the Central Vermont Council on Aging, Lamoille

We're in the transition time of year, patiently waiting for spring to peek up from under the snow... or will it be a new snowfall that recovers the grassy spots that have shown up? While you wait, CVCOA has programs and initiatives you can get involved

Have you heard of GetSetUp? This online platform offers a full range of live, online classes taught by and for older adults, and it's free to all Vermonters. Sign up or sign in at https://www. getsetup.io/partner/vermont.

Looking for something in person? CVCOA offers free wellness classes throughout the region, led by volunteer certified instructors. Check out all our offerings at https://cvcoa.org/ exercise-and-wellness-classes.

How about a meal with your neighbors? Twelve meal programs throughout Central Vermont offer community meals in addition to delivering Meals on Wheels. Stop by for a homecooked meal in your neighborhood, or venture out to a location you've never been. The details of each program can be found here: https://cvcoa.org/meals-and-nutrition.

And, if you have a meal you think others would enjoy, share the recipe with us! We're building a database for our meal providers to use that will feature your recipes. Email a picture of the recipe or the text to recipes@cvcoa.org.

And as always, remember we are here to support you and your loved ones. Reach out to our Helpline at 802-477-1364. We staff the Helpline during business hours and can return a message left outside those times.

What was it like to be a teacher in Underhill in the early 1800s

By Roger Frey, Underhill Historical Society

Simply stated, "It wasn't easy." Teachers were paid little and usually boarded with students' families. Boarding during a threeto four-month session meant a teacher would have to move to another student's home weekly or bi-weekly. Each District school committee was responsible to hire their teacher(s). School reports we have in our archives show parents were less concerned about the prospective teachers' qualifications, than what she or he was going to be paid. Most of the teachers were female; during years in which boys only attended winter term, a male teacher was often hired. Teachers had to be strong disciplinarians and it was expected they would be. Teaching multiple grades was difficult to say the least. Can you imagine one teacher trying to teach grades 1-8?

Some schools had a morning session for students in grades 5-8, and an afternoon session for students in grades 1-4. School terms were erratic. Sometimes there was a three-month winter session and a three-month summer session, or sessions were cancelled altogether. Many children did not attend school at all, or attended irregularly for no other reason than the indifference of the parents. Teachers dealt with poor lighting, poor heating, privies, lack of drinking water, and most importantly the lack of educational tools and supplies. Children had to provide their own books, but many families could not afford to buy them. Many of the teachers were teenagers themselves, having graduated from 8th grade. Only a few teachers had the equivalent of a high school education. Teacher turnover was constant.

In those years teaching wasn't looked at as a profession, as it

JES Seed Sale benefits Farm to School program

Jericho Elementary Farm to School is partnering with High Mowing Seeds to fundraise for the Jericho Elementary School (JES) Farm to School program. If you order your seeds through this fundraiser, a portion of the proceeds will be donated to our JES Farm to School program.

Please note — when an item is out of stock or on backorder, we will substitute it with a similar variety so that your order ships complete. Orders must be placed with JES and not with High Mowing directly.

Orders are due by Thursday, March 28. Order online at https:// high-mowing-seed-fundraiser.cheddarup.com.

Seeds will be sent home with students before April break. If you do not have a student at JES, you will need to make arrangements to pick them up from the school. An email will be sent at a later date with pickup information.

For growing information, please visit http://highmowingseeds.

You may also order by sending the paper form and payment back to the school with your child.

Cambridge Elementary School preschool screening

Will your child be turning 3 or 4 by September 1, 2024? Cambridge Elementary Early Childhood Program invites families in Cambridge and Jeffersonville with eligible preschool students to call 802-521-5613 to make an appointment for a developmental screening. There will be two sessions held at Cambridge Elementary School/ Preschool on Thursday, March 14: 1:30 – 2:30 PM, and 2:30 – 3:30 PM.

Please contact Erin Vaillancourt, 802-521-5613, no later than Monday, April 1 to reserve a time for your child.

Screenings will take approximately 60 minutes. During this time, parents will fill out a brief developmental questionnaire about their child while educators interact with the children to gain information about each child's development in the areas of speech and language, social/emotional, motor, and cognitive. This is also a time for parents to ask questions about their child's skills and about our preschool program.

MMUUSD's last day of school June 18

From John Alberghini, MMUUSD Superintendent

Planning for summer care and camps has become increasingly difficult for families over the past several years as school cancellations due to weather, flooding, and other emergencies have extended the school year. In an effort to support families in effectively planning for the summer, we are setting the last student day for this year on Tuesday, June 18.

Based on the number of emergency school closures so far this year, we will meet our traditional number of 178 school days. The state requires 175 student days. Therefore, if we have additional school closures, MMUUSD will repurpose the student days for staff professional development and set the last student day on Tuesday, June 18. This is a practice that will continue in subsequent school years.

UVM students majoring in sciences, technology, engineering, or math may apply to be an ambassador and receive training to lead hands-on, experiential learning activities for youths in Vermont.

2023-24 Westford Robotics recap

By Mark Drapa, Westford

As we reach the end of the Robotics season, I wanted to share the incredible student outcomes that have been realized by our

First, participation at Westford School grew again by almost 2x. We had 48 students (almost 65% of all 4-8 graders are on a robotics team, with gender parity no less). We started the next level program for our 7-8 graders. Over 350 hours of extracurricular STEM programming were provided by our volunteer mentors.

We have so many reasons to be proud of our students. In a field of 65 teams statewide, all of our Westford Robotics FIRST LEGO League teams (grades 4-6) advanced past state qualifiers to the State Championships, where they all were impressive competitors. One of our teams will be advancing to a post-season international event in California!

Our FIRST Tech Challenge team (grades 7-8) not only made it to the State Championships in their rookie year, they finished eighth overall in qualifiers and made it to the semifinals (against high school teams from across the state)! The team also earned a design award based on their engineering portfolio and technical presentation. They were gracious and polished and kind.

At the same competition, our very own Hivemind Robotics from EHS earned top honors and will be advancing to the FTC World Championships in Houston. The core of this team include members who came up through the Westford Robotics program. Not only that, but two of those students have come back and mentored two teams at Westford all season. This was 40-50 hours of volunteer outreach. Additionally, one of these two kids was nominated to represent Vermont for the "Dean's List" (for exemplifying the spirit of FIRST in all that they do), the only recognition given to individuals rather than teams.

Finally, the varsity/traveling team level (FIRST Robotics Challenge) that operates out of Generator in Burlington started their season at an event in New Hampshire this past weekend. Again, several Westford students are honing their skills in CAD and 3-D modeling, precision manufacturing, designing and debugging complex electrical subsystems, precision motor control, autonomous and tele-op control systems programming, technical writing, public speaking, business development, and outreach. The season will see them travel around New England as they constantly engineer more advanced systems and strategies. They are building an amazing robot, but the student outcomes that get built are even more impressive.

Thank you to our community's volunteer mentors — none of this would be possible without your tireless effort. Thank you to our sponsors (or potentially new sponsors?) who help keep this activity accessible to every Westford student at no cost.

We hope to create some in-person outreach opportunities in the coming months to share our journey with the community.

Until then, the next time you see a kid wearing their Westford Robotics t-shirt, make sure you ask them to "tell me about your robot..."

Winona Smith Scholarship opportunities now open

The League of Women Voters of Vermont Education Fund is now accepting applications for its Winona Smith Scholarship program. Created in 1998 to honor the legacy of League leader Winona Smith, the scholarship is awarded annually to local high school seniors who embody the characteristics and qualities Smith displayed of civic participation and community service.

Three $2000 scholarships will be awarded to students who demonstrate financial need, scholastic achievement, and come highly recommended by their teacher.

Applications, due on Wednesday, May 1, can be completed online at https://bit.ly/LWVScholarshipDetails. Students need to submit two essays (500 words), one on issues concerning voting rights, and the other on the impact of a recent civic, national, or world event. A letter of recommendation from a teacher is also required, https://bit.ly/LWVTeacherRec.

The scholarship can be applied towards continuation of education in an accredited vocational-technical or trade school and two- or four-year college or university. Scholarship recipients will be announced on Saturday, June 1.

Last year, LWV scholarships were awarded to students from Thetford Academy, Windsor, Otter Valley Union, and Middlebury Union High Schools.

Questions can be directed to Becky Miller, lwvofvt.edfund@ gmail.com.

Help with child care costs in Vermont

From the Vermont Department for Children and Families

Does your family need help paying for child care, preschool, or afterschool services? The Child Care Financial Assistance Program helps Vermont children access quality child care by covering some or all child care costs for eligible families.

To be eligible for financial assistance, families must:

- have child(ren) age 6 weeks to 13 years (19 years for those with special needs);
- have an approved reason for needing child care, like work or training;
- meet Vermont's income guidelines (even a family of four making $105,000 qualifies);
 - be a Vermont resident;
 - have less than $1 million in assets; and
- have child(ren) with an eligible citizenship status (not required starting Monday, July 1).

Does this sound like your family? Visit the program's webpage (https://dcf.vermont.gov/benefits/ccfap) to learn more.

If you have questions, you can contact your local Community Child Care Support Agency (https://dcf.vermont.gov/contacts/partners/cccsa). Agency staff can also help you find child care, preschool, or afterschool services.

Change is coming! If you don't meet the income guidelines now, you may on Sunday, April 7. New guidelines will expand eligibility based on family size and income. More families may qualify for assistance; for example, a family of four making $124,800 will qualify. Subscribe to receive news/updates on our homepage at https://dcf.vermont.gov/cdd.

The Child Care Financial Assistance Program is a service of the Child Development Division, a part of the Vermont Department for Children and Families.

Winners of 14th State of the Union Essay Contest for VT students

U.S. Senator Bernie Sanders (I-VT) has announced the winners of his 14th annual State of the Union Essay Contest, which gives Vermont high school students the opportunity to describe a major issue facing our country and propose what they would do to solve it. This year, 454 students from 27 Vermont high schools submitted essays. A panel of seven Vermont educators served as volunteer judges, ranking the essays and selecting 12 finalists and three winners.

Sanders will host the finalists at the Vermont State House on Saturday, March 9 for a roundtable discussion about their essays. Since Sanders started the contest, more than 6100 students throughout Vermont have written essays about critically important issues, including climate change, racial justice, access to mental health care, immigration reform, disability rights, and political polarization.

"Each year, I am moved reading the many essays we receive," said Sanders. "These young Vermonters are thinking critically about the many challenges we face and how we can address them. Young people are the future of our country and it is very heartening to see them actively engaged. Thank you to all the students who participated, to their teachers for encouraging these important conversations, and to our judges for volunteering their time to review hundreds of essays. I am looking forward to another excellent roundtable discussion with this year's finalists."

Sanders has entered the finalists' essays into the Congressional Record, the official archive of the U.S. Congress. The contest is timed to coincide with the President's annual address to a joint session of Congress, which will take place on Thursday, March 7.

Leah Frisbie, from Essex High School, won first place with an essay on attempts to ban books from school libraries: "The banning of books in the United States is a pressing problem that deprives people across the country from perspectives, information, and freedom...Through attempts to ban books, marginalized groups' stories and perspectives are silenced. The act of banning books diminishes the quality and purpose of education... Congress must pass the Fight Banned Books Act in order to protect the nation from the needless deprivation of information. The issues occurring in society, such as gender and race inequalities, deserve to be shared in libraries."

Abigail Curry, the second-place winner from Mount Mansfield Union High School, wrote about the lack of access to clean, drinkable water for many Native Americans: "Research by the House Committee on Natural Resources showed that 48% of Native Americans living on reservations in the U.S. don't have a reliable source of clean, drinkable water-a proportion 80x higher than the 0.6% of all Americans who don't have access to drinking water...The indigenous water crisis is a complicated issue that will only get harder to solve as climate change continues to worsen droughts in the U.S. That being said, there is a path to a solution. First, the Supreme Court must overturn their decision in Arizona v. Navajo Nation."

Leah Fitzgerald, the third-place winner from Bellows Free Academy Saint Albans, wrote about homelessness in America: "The 2023 Point in Time (PIT) count conducted by the U.S Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) revealed the disheartening truth that over 653,104 American citizens were experiencing homelessness on a single night in January of last year...Interning at a local emergency housing shelter during high school allowed me to witness these numbers in real life. Distributing gloves, hats, blankets, and food could not overshadow the fact many would be sleeping outside in the cold Vermont weather without a roof over their heads...By expanding programs such as HOME, PRO Housing, or TBRA will encourage land use and support the housing market. New units can specifically be sectioned off for homeless populations under PBRA. Upon entering such housing, citizens need to be connected with behavioral, mental, medical and financial services funded by programs like SSA and HHS. Programs under the HUD should also be adequately funded through the national budget.

The winners of this year's contest are: first place, Leah Frisbie, Essex High School, Junior; second place: Abigail Curry, Mount Mansfield Union High School, Junior; third place: Leah Fitzgerald, Bellows Free Academy Saint Albans, Senior.

The finalists of this year's contest (in alphabetical order by last name) are Liliana Dicks, Oxbow High School, Junior; Patterson Frazier, Champlain Valley Union High School, Junior; Jack French, Essex High School, Junior; Talia Gibbs, Vermont Commons School, Senior; Delia Gould, Brattleboro Union High School, Freshman; Olivia Gray, South Burlington High School, Freshman; Maddy McHale, Burlington High School, Freshman; Andres Miguez, Mount Mansfield Union High School, Junior; Oliver Nichols, Burlington High School, Freshman; Thomas Scheetz, Mount Anthony Union High School, Senior; Magdelina Short, Bellows Free Academy Fairfax, Sophomore; and Jackson Wheaton, Northfield Middle High School, Freshman.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Pursuant to Executive Order 11988 (Floodplain Management) and Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) implementing regulations at Title 44 of the Code of Federal Regulations Part 9, FEMA hereby provides final notice of its decision to provide Hazard Mitigation Grant Program funding for an action located in a floodplain. Funding would be provided through the Vermont Agency of Transportation to the Town of Jericho to for the Mill Brook floodplain restoration and streambank stabilization project.

The action is located at the confluence of Mill Brook and Winooski River along VT Route 117 in Jericho, Vermont. The project is to reduce erosion and maintain the riverbank adjacent to Route 117 while enhancing floodplain function. A temporary access road would be established on the west side of Route 117. Construction would include the removal of failing riprap and historic armoring. A failing stone berm would also be removed. A ballasted engineered log jam using stacked logs with root wads would be installed. The west side of the brook would be excavated to widen it several feet. A flood bench would be created and restoration with trees, shrubs, and native planting would occur.

Work would occur within a mapped special flood hazard area, which could cause short-term adverse effects. However, the natural and beneficial floodplain functions would be restored at the site long-term. Sedimentation and erosion controls would be employed and staging areas would be on pre-disturbed ground to reduce impacts. The site could still be impacted by flooding; however, the adjacent roadway would no longer be at risk. A map of the area of available upon request.

The project must take place in a floodplain due to the nature of the risk being mitigated. Ten additional alternatives were considered, including "no action" and road relocation. No action would leave Route 117 at risk. Relocating the roadway is not practicable and could have adverse impacts on the community. The action would conform to applicable state and local floodplain protection standards. Grant conditions will also require compliance with all federal, state, and local laws, including coordination with the local floodplain administrator.

Map requests and comments about this project and potential floodplain impacts should be submitted within 15 days of the date of this publication to:

Westford Rec Department spring activities

By Amanda Gifford, Westford Recreation Coordinator

You all know about spring basketball for girls grades 4-8, right? Sign up here: https://forms.gle/o6BgZVtH5z1wS1SW9.

How about some Flying Disc Saturday mornings in the gym during mud season? Just determining interest right now. I'm thinking grade 1 and under would need a parent or teen support, grades 2 to adult could maybe handle it on their own? Everything from target throwing and clam catching to Ultimate? Need coach-type people and those interested in playing — let us know!

Volunteer for the M&T Vermont City Marathon

Go the extra mile and volunteer with RunVermont at the M&T Vermont City Marathon! We are looking for volunteers for Friday-Sunday, May 24-26 to help support runners and cheer on athletes of all ages.

Volunteers work in a variety of areas including Course Monitors, EXPO-Race Packet Pickup, Green Team, Info Team, Mini Marathon, Relay Exchange Zones, and Runners' Food.

Visit http://RunVermont.org to learn more and sign up. Questions? Reach out to volunteer@runvermont.org.

GOTRVT celebrates its 25th year with new scholarships, curriculum

Girls on the Run Vermont (GOTRVT, https://www.gotrvt. org/), a statewide nonprofit organization for girls in grades 3-8, launched the 2024 Rick Hashagen Limitless Potential Scholarship Awards at the final of three statewide coach training events, held at Essex Middle School on Saturday, February 10. This year's Scholarship Awards, designed in celebration of the organization's 25th anniversary, will be presented to two GOTRVT alumni in the amount of $2500 each, renewable for up to three years, up to $10,000 total each.

The application, which details the parameters for qualification, went live on February 15. GOTRVT encourages all past participants who are eligible to apply for this award during a momentous anniversary season.

The Rick Hashagen Limitless Potential Scholarship Awards, named in honor of one of Girls on the Run Vermont's original board members and long-time treasurer Rick Hashagen, were introduced during the 2023 season. Two former participants of the program, both of whom went on to become junior coaches in high school, were each awarded a $1000 scholarship to put toward continuing their education. As part of the ongoing 25th anniversary celebrations, this year's award amounts will significantly increase thanks to funding from the GOTRVT board-directed investment fund, and in partnership with decadelong sponsor, M&T Bank.

Girls on the Run Vermont also announced that this season will introduce a newly updated curriculum for coaches to guide and facilitate lessons for their teams. The 10-week season will again feature 20 self-esteem building lessons for girls in grades 3-5. All lessons are curated to build life skills around timely and ageappropriate topics such as managing emotions, positive self-talk, navigating friendships, and more. The new curriculum was made possible by funding from GOTRVT's statewide sponsor, Blue Cross Blue Shield of Vermont.

Over 600 volunteer coaches will facilitate lessons to approximately 1800-2000 girls this spring. Participation as a coach will make a lasting impact on the social, emotional, and physical wellbeing of young girls as they face societal pressures and a particularly vulnerable part of childhood. GOTR recognizes the power of positivity and appreciates the time dedicated as a coach to mentor Vermont girls.

There is still time to register as a coach for this empowering program and coaches will have the opportunity to be trained via a virtual training that will be held on Saturday, March 9. Program registration for participants attending the Essex 5K opened on February 21 (for those attending the Manchester 5K on February 28). The season will kick off the week of Monday, March 18 statewide GOTRVT has served over 38,000 girls statewide since its inception in 1999. The organization looks forward to celebrating the mission with the greater GOTRVT community as it turns 25, and will culminate the season with two 5K events, one at the Champlain Valley Exposition in Essex on Saturday, June 1, and the other at Dana L. Thompson Memorial Park in Manchester on Saturday, June 8. GOTRVT will also host their annual fundraiser, the Sneaker Soiree, this October in Burlington.
